Toombs County Editor Throws Award Gauntlet

Senator Walter George, Congressman Tarver, Cox Laud Progressive Government Campaign as Aid to Better State.

"WE PLAN TO WIN,"
McLARTY ASSERTS

$3,500 Award Will Go to Victorious Georgia Unit; All Counties in State Eligible To Compete.

By HERMAN HANCOCK.

Toombs county, one of the most progressive and thriving counties of southeast Georgia, yesterday set the pace in The Atlanta Constitution's $7,500 Progressive Government Awards with announcement by B. H. McLarty, editor of the Lyons Progress, official county organ, that Toombs plans to win the $3,500 first award.

Coincidentally with McLarty's announcement, made while he was on a business trip to Atlanta, Senator Walter F. George, of Vienna, Dooley county, and Congressman Malcolm C. Tarver and E. E. Cox, of the seventh and second Georgia districts, respectively, joined others who praised the Progressive Government Awards. Senator George telegraphed from Vienna.

Incidentally, indorsements continued to pour in from all sections of the state and from persons in all walks of life lauding the undertaking, and expressing sympathy with the movement.

"We Plan to Win."

McLarty asserted that citizens and officials of Toombs have received the announcement of the awards with "interest and enthusiasm," and added "we plan to win the first award."

Toombs is one of the smaller counties of the state. It has a population of about 18,000 persons. There are two thriving towns, Lyons, the county seat, and Vidalia.

Congressman Tarver is from Dalton, seat of Whitfield county, in northwest Georgia, and represents the seventh district comprising Whitfield, Barrow, Chattooga, Chatahoochee, Dade, Douglas, Floyd, Gordon, Hall, Hardee, Murray, Paulding, Polk and Walker counties.

Congressman Cox wired from Washington an enthusiastic indorsement. He is from Camilla, Mitchell county, in southwest Georgia, and represents the second district composed of Mitchell, Baker, Brooks, Calhoun, Colquitt, and Wilcox counties.

Record High Reached By Bank Clearings

Officials of the Atlanta Clearing House announced bank clearings reached a new high of $18,700,000 yesterday.

Officials said this is the largest recorded for a single day since 1925, topping even the halcyon days of 1928 and 1929.

GOVERNOR PLACES HEAVY INSURANCE ON STATE EDIFICES

Friends of Talmadge Expected To Share Over $20,000 Commissions on $6,000,000 in Policies.

Governor Talmadge, who until several weeks ago advocated the state insuring its own property, has placed insurance totaling more than $6,000,000 on Georgia's public buildings, it was learned yesterday.

The insurance contracts were made Christmas eve and have been in force and effect since that date. No announcement that they were to be made was issued, and no announcement of the actual awarding of the contracts has yet been made by the Governor.

The Governor's friends, in Atlanta and over the state, are sharing in the commissions, which are expected to exceed $20,000 on the premiums, which total $100,000, it was learned.

It is understood Jesse Draper, of Atlanta, who is Governor Talmadge's naval aide, and Eugene Oberdorfer Jr., who arranged the $200,000 surety bond for Talmadge's state treasurer, J. B. Daniel, are writing a large portion of the insurance, although some reports said they were subcontracting it to other friends of the Governor in north and south Georgia.

The policies cover a three-year period beginning from date.

Governor Talmadge was reported on a hunting trip yesterday and his executive secretary, W. Carlton Mobley, declined to discuss the insurance situation with newsmen. To state officials who inquired of him, however, Mobley confirmed the reports that the insurance had been contracted for. Meanwhile, scores of agents, who were not "cut in" on the deal, swarmed about the capital seeking to know the arrangements for the contracts had been secretly made a week or more.

Governor-elect Rivers, M at his home at Lakeland, could not be reached for comment. It was reported here.

BOYKIN TO ASSIST NEW POLICE PROBE

Solicitor Pledges Aid to Hartsfield Efforts To Oust "Shyster Fixers."

Solicitor General John A. Boykin will join Mayor-elect Hartsfield in investigation of the alleged "organized gang" of bondsmen and "shyster" lawyers who have "fixes" with police, he announced yesterday from his sickbed.

Boykin said he would throw the whole force of the solicitor general's staff behind Hartsfield's attack on alleged police "fixing."

Meanwhile the mayor-elect, who takes office January 4, said he will appear before the January-February grand jury to ask a probe of conditions he struck at in a statement issued Sunday to The Constitution.

Hartsfield declared he did not know exactly when he will go before the jury, which is to be organized next week, but intimated he will go as soon as possible.

Investigation of the relationship among certain bondsmen and members of the police department will be a single, bold, and determined effort to state the calling of a large number of witnesses.

Solicitor Boykin asserted he will confer with Hartsfield and will give him all co-operation in the attempt to "clean up" the situation which the mayor-elect describes as "sickening."

Hartsfield will charge before the grand jury that bondsmen who of-

Cobb Says: There's Too Many Colors

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Dec. 28. (Copyright, 1936, American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

Just as the time the contesting forces in Spain lose the 20 or 30 confusing names the correspondents had hung on them and resolve themselves into the army that is going to take Madrid not later than 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the army that is going to keep Madrid until the cows come home, a fresh complication breaks out in China. General Chang gets into a mixup with General Chiang, possibly on the ground that he's a typographical error; and the real forces of the north get all twisted up in the newspaper reader's mind with the white army of the north and the pink army of the north by northeast and so on and so forth, until the special writers run out of colors.

COUNTY FINANCES IN FINE CONDITION

Rapid Tax Payments and Increased Revenue Indicate Better Times Here.

Financial outlook for Fulton county during 1937 is the best since pre-depression years, it was learned from the county commissioners and the tax receiver's office yesterday.

The county's revenue from all sources is better this year and tax payments are being received more rapidly. Chairman Charles R. Adams and Commissioner George F. Longino reported.

Approximately $2,925,000 in 1936 taxes had been collected at the tax receiver's office yesterday, with two more days before the tax books close December 31 after a 10-day extension.

The total tax assessment in the county is nearly $4,000,000.

"The rapidity with which citizens are paying their current taxes is a barometer that times are getting better," Dr. Adams asserted.

Loan Being Repaid.

Commissioner Longino reported that more than $900,000 of this year's loan of $1,900,000 with which to operate the county government had already been repaid and that the remainder would be paid on December 31. The tax receipts are being transferred to the county treasurer, who will issue the warrants to pay the debt.

The commissioners will meet tomorrow with Robert Strickland, of the Atlanta clearing house banks, to discuss terms for a loan with which to operate the county government during the coming year. Approximately $2,000,000 will be needed by March, Commissioner Longino announced. This sum will be paid in January, 1938.

It was estimated increased tax receipts will lease the financial burden of the county to a great degree and possibly will provide more revenue for needed works during the coming year.

No New Jobs.

The commissioners anticipate the creation of no new jobs or the filling of any now vacant at their next meeting, or any within the immediate future, Longino said yesterday. He said numerous requests had been received.

Coast Storm Toll Is Set at $500,000

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A weekend storm which caused damage unofficially estimated at $500,000 in Southern California threatened more rain tonight and tomorrow.

Huge waves, high tide and a gale that reached 70-mile velocity caused the property loss.

More than 100 boats, including yachts, a liner and two schooners, broke loose from mooring and were driven ashore.

Charles Hackstrom, 51, died of a heart attack as he tended a 30-foot cruiser.

Hail, almost as rare as snow in Southern California lowlands, whittened Santa Ana streets today.

A landslide blocked the eastbound track of the Santa Fe railroad in Cajon pass.

'IT IS BEST I DIE,' POPE TELLS AIDE

Vatican Sources Declare That Holy Father May Pass Away at Any Time.

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Pope Pius was described tonight as being "in a very serious condition" by persons who visited the Vatican today.

They said they had gathered the impression in the Vatican that the pope might pass away at any time though they emphasized the nature of the Pontiff's illness did not obviate the possibility of his living for some days and possibly for months.

These persons were not received by the Pontiff himself, but talked lengthily with high prelates close to the papal presence.

Pope Pius, at least aware he is gravely ill, was reported reliably to have told a prelate today:

"In this condition I cannot be Pope. I must resign."

The prelate visited the Holy Father shortly after the Pope had suffered a slight hemorrhage in his paralyzed left leg. Physicians, however, said the hemorrhage was not so important to his condition as the spread of the paralysis and the pontiff's uncertain heart action.

His sad words were the first indication the 73-year-old Pope realized how acute his condition had become.

500,000 Persons in Dark for Hours As Newark's Power Facilities Fail

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A metropolitan area of a half million persons was in darkness for hours tonight in the most serious electric power failure in New Jersey's history.

Business and industry were crippled. Passengers in elevators were trapped. Homes and business establishments. The power remained off until the evening was well gone.

All but one neighborhood in Newark, part of Elizabeth, and smaller communities in three counties were affected as a fire in a substation cut for 5 1/2 hours and thus relieving the financial burden of the county considerably.

The commissioners anticipate the creation of no new jobs or the filling of any now vacant at their next meeting, or any within the immediate future, Longino said yesterday. He said numerous requests had been received.

F.D.R. WILL REVEAL 2D TERM POLICIES

President's Annual Message to Congress Will Be Delivered January 6.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's annual message to congress, expected by congressional leaders to set up sign posts pointing to major legislative goals, will be delivered a week from Wednesday.

Capitol officials arranged a joint session today of house and senate for the afternoon of January 6 to count presidential electoral votes and hear the chief executive. He will deliver his message in person.

Mr. Roosevelt will speak about 1 p. m. (Atlanta time). His remarks will be broadcast.

While his message may focus legislative tasks of the next congress more clearly, several law-making problems already appear fairly certain of attention and perhaps of provoking controversy.

Among the apparent certainties are neutrality, relief, crop insurance and farm tenure. Other possible subjects include industrial control and changing the constitution.

Congress also must decide early in the session whether to continue such expiring governmental functions as the President's power to vary the gold content of the dollar, the Reconstruction Corporation's lending authority, operation of the treasury's stabilization fund, and work of the Electric Home and Farm Authority. All expire under present law January 30 or February 1.

Democratic chiefs may get a preview in White House conferences, of other administration legislative proposals. For the Democratic rank and file and members of the House, the annual message is expected to provide the best index of what may be anticipated.

Counting of the 523 electoral votes for Mr. Roosevelt and the 8 for Governor Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, is expected to require only 45 minutes. The presidential message will follow immediately.

Youth Badly Burned In Blast at Home

An Atlanta youth was severely burned and his mother and two young brothers were slightly injured yesterday afternoon when an explosion occurred in the motor of an electric refrigerator he was repairing at his home at 214 Georgia avenue, S. E.

The burned youth, Howard T. Ware, 19, was admitted to Grady hospital. He was burned about the eyes and face. His condition is not serious, however.

His mother, Mrs. Howard Ware, 38, suffered from effects of inhaling ammonia fumes, and his brothers, 12 and 14, were slightly burned. They were dismissed following treatment at Grady hospital.

Mrs. William Candler Buys Biltmore Claims

Mrs. William Candler, wife of the late manager of the Biltmore hotel, yesterday paid the city of Atlanta approximately $57,000 cash for back tax on the Biltmore hotel.

The Biltmore hotel was sold to Mrs. Candler by the city of Atlanta in 1934, which was reduced by consent of city council at its last session. The Biltmore was assessed at $1,000,000 in 1935 and 1936, upon which figures the reduction for previous years was based. Mrs. Candler has said that by obtaining the fi. fa., she will be able to obtain a financial agreement with bondholders to continue operation of the hotel.

POLICE STAND BY IN KIDNAPING CASE TO PROTECT YOUTH

Mattson Given Free Hand to Negotiate for Son; Brutal Abductor Feared To Be Narcotic Addict.

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 28.—(UP)—Next word from the kidnaper of Charles Mattson, 10, son of a prominent physician, was expected to appear in the classified columns of a newspaper of the Tacoma-Seattle area, it was learned tonight.

Dr. William W. Mattson, father of the kidnapped child, was given a free hand by G-men and police to negotiate for the payment of $28,000 ransom and recovery of the boy.

G-men and Tacoma police indicated they were standing aside lest their activities interfere with recovery of Charles. Members of the Mattson family had every newspaper of the area brought in tonight, although none showed any message which might be connected with the case.

Mattson's activities since shortly after the kidnapping last night have been guided by warnings and assurances contained in a crumpled note which the kidnaper left at the Mattson home.

Police Ready To Act.

The federal agents and police meanwhile were preparing to move rapidly upon the kidnaper if he returned. Much of their work will parallel activities in the $200,000 kidnapping of George Hunt Weyerhaeuser here last year. Young Weyerhaeuser was a playmate of Charles Mattson.

Reports at police headquarters were that the kidnaper had chosen the newspapers as a medium of contact. The police also said that a fingerprint had been developed from the ransom note and G-men moved to identify it if possible from the files in Washington.

The 10-year-old boy was seized at his home last night by a bearded, masked man, who carried off the kicking, screaming youngster.

Authorities pushed every resource into the search, fearing harm might already have befallen Charles.

Seattle police received a state patrol order to stop a 1935 sedan and hold for questioning its 50-year-old driver, identified as a mentally unbalanced former patient of the boy's wealthy physician father but it was later rescinded as a mistake.

Hunt Stolen Car.

Search also was launched for an automobile listed to United States Marshal A. J. Clardy and stolen here within 30 minutes after the kidnapping. Officers said it was possible this car had been taken by the abductor in his escape.

The boy's brother and sister and a young playmate, who looked on terrified as the kidnaper snatched up his young victim, said the man was brutal and used violent language.

The ransom note—only due to the kidnaper with the exception of the descriptions given by Charles' excited playmates—was a crude affair, apparently turned out on a child's typewriter press.

It is noted that no harm would befall the child if the ransom were paid, $10,000 in old bills of small denomination and $18,000 in $50 and $100 bills, and asked Charles' father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, to contact the kidnaper through the classified columns of a Seattle newspaper.

Mattson and his wife, who were at a party at the home of neighbors when the kidnapping occurred, said they would be able to meet the ransom after the Virginia senator.

Pilot Fails to Clear Ridge, Hurling Giant Ship Down Slope, Shearing Through Trees; Is Un- recognizable as Plane.

TRAGEDY FOLLOWS REQUEST FOR BEAM

U.S. Official Says Ceiling Too Low for Flying in Region; Line Reports Traffic Near Capacity.

BURBANK, Cal., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Crushed in the wreckage of their ill-fated plane, the bodies of 12 occupants of a giant airliner were found late today in a brush-tangled ravine about 20 miles northwest of here.

The plane, with nine passengers and a crew of three, disappeared last night on a trip from San Francisco to Burbank.

Ground searchers came upon their gruesome find after several hours of tortuous climbing through ravines and over the mountains to the spot where the twisted wreckage of the plane was sighted from the air.

Wings of the big twin-motored Boeing 'lay atop a ridge on the slope of Oak mountain, about five miles from Burbank, an emergency field.

Down in a narrow canyon rested what remained of the plane's fuselage, the bodies of nine passengers and three crew members crushed within the mass of metal.

Seeking to Land.

United Air Line officials said Pilot Edwin W. Blom apparently struck the top of Oak Mountain while trying to reach an open landing place in the San Fernando valley just two ridges away.

The ship then hurtled down the slope, shearing through scrub oak trees which lay broken and twisted along its disastrous trail.

For almost 1,000 yards pieces of fuselage were strewn.

The ship apparently struck the bottom of the ravine with terrific force, bounced a short distance up the slope of the gulch and slid back to the bottom.

Glass to Remain Head Of Appropriation Body

LYNCHBURG, Va., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Senator Carter Glass announced today that he intended to retain the chairmanship of the senate appropriations committee and not accept the chairmanship of the senate banking and currency committee to which he is entitled by reason of seniority.

Senator Glass stated after a conference with Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, that Wagner had expressed the desire to take the chairmanship of the senate banking and currency committee. He is the next ranking Democratic member of the senate banking and currency committee after the Virginia senator.

It is understood that Senator Glass will continue to serve as chairman of the senate subcommittee on banking and currency to which measures relating to Federal Reserve Bank legislation are usually referred.

100,000 DRUG ADDICTS FACE DEATH AS CHINA FIGHTS DREADED HABIT

Mass Executions Planned for Orientals Who 'Refuse To Be Cured.'

PEIPING, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Almost 100,000 drug addicts in Peiping faced possible death tonight because Korean dealers refused to stop selling them narcotics.

Mayor Chin Teh-chun estimated this number would be affected by the government edict to "be cured by New Year's or die." He added, however, first executions might involve only a few hundred.

The Korean dealers—who are Japanese citizens—are responsible for the tragic spread of drug habits in this northern Chinese city of 1,500,000 inhabitants, officials assert.

The salesmen openly defy police, even attacking patrolmen who attempt to halt the drug traffic. Sometimes the dealers, with an eye to future business, harbor addicts away from official surveillance.

"The world may condemn us for what may be a wholesale execution of drug sufferers," said one high Chinese authority, "but since we cannot reach the real cause of the evil here—namely, the Korean dealers, our only recourse is to make the use of drugs as dangerous to people simply will not dare to take up a habit punishable by death."

At the start of its campaign, the government opened numerous "treatment centers," some of which have

Skaters Draw Figure Eights in Heart of New York

New York ice skaters may now draw their figure eights without leaving the downtown area of the city. NEGRO IS SENTENCED IN DEATH OF WOMAN

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Rufus Swain, 27-year-old college-educated negro, was sentenced by Judge Rudolph Desmond today to die in the electric chair February 19 for the slaying of Mrs. Mary Louise Trammell August 15.

Mrs. Trammell, a former resident of Knoxville, Tenn., was choked and beaten to death in a near south side hotel.

But, nevertheless, there were many losses during the holiday rush, but—fortunately for little ones who, with great faith, trust Santa Claus not to forget them on Christmas morning—most of the Christmas articles were returned to the rightful owners before Christmas Eve.

Range of Articles.
Lost articles included practically every imaginable purchase one could make. There were popcorn, Christmas cards, pens, scarfs, ash trays, umbrellas, toys, wearing apparel—even false teeth and Christmas liquor.

One of the most pathetic losses was reported at Terminal station Christmas Eve. A passenger dropped a pint of whiskey as he stepped on the train. He turned slowly, looked sheepishly at the train attendant and said: "That my friend, can be marked up in your lost and found column as a 'total loss.'"

On the Lakewood car line of the Georgia Power Company, a negro found a purse containing $35 lying on a seat after a woman left the car. Evidently, it was her Christmas funds. The negro turned the money over to the conductor.

Franklin, a short time later, the little lady called the street car lost and found department. "I lost a hat," she said. The Lakewood car arrived about that time and the purse was turned in. The woman was told to come get her purse and money. Happiness beamed.

On a northbound train, a young soldier from Columbus' Fort Benning, lost his uniform cap. He was sorely grieved and showed a slight fear—through several drinks of spirits. Apparently he called the conductor, "Mister, please help me find my cap—I may have left it on the other train—but my Christmas will be ruined if I have to think of what my top sergeant will say to me if I return without my cap."

On the street cars, the trains, the taxis and the buses, the most consistently lost articles were the umbrellas, and with the rain of yesterday these customers missed this little article and frantically began calling the lost and found departments. They were all returned.

J. A. Robinson, street railway lost and found director, reported approximately 200 articles were left on the cars during the 10 days preceding Christmas. Most numerous of these were umbrellas and gloves—and strangely enough, when gloves were lost, more pairs were reported missing than singles. He insists that no more articles were left on cars during Christmas than at any other time.

"We did not see one record though," he vowed to "Horn of the first," the children were left on the cars during a Christmas season.

Neatly packed gifts, all ready to be delivered, were found on busy streets and in the cars during the holiday season. These were kept several months and then sold if no one claimed them.

The railroad kept their lost and found articles six months. If no claim has been received in that time, they are sold to the highest bidder.

Lost and found articles that are unclaimed at the taxi cab office are donated to needy. Once during the holidays, a young lady was stranded here without clothes. A taxi cab driver, De-taxi lost and found department and down went a taxi carrying to her clothes that had been unclaimed.

What will you have? It's all at the lost and found office—though and in much smaller quantities. Pints of wine, half-filled whisky bottles, blankets, false teeth, bookends, mops, paint, pens, pipes, cars, silver and paper money, and so forth.

Lost and Found Bureaus Disclose Greater Care by Riding Public

Christmas Season, However, Finds Transportation Companies' Shelves Heavily Laden With Articles Left in Cars, Trains, Taxis and Buses.

By LEE ROGERS.

Atlantans, and Georgians generally, learned one lesson during the depression—a financial one.

That was to hang onto their Christmas purchases after paying good money for them.

Directors of the local transportation companies' lost and found bureaus, in their reports yesterday, disclosed fewer articles were left on the public conveyances during the holiday rush season this year than ever before.

"People evidently have learned to take better care of their property—especially when it is for Santa Claus," one man said at the end of his report.

But, nevertheless, there were many losses during the holiday rush, but—fortunately for little ones who, with great faith, trust Santa Claus not to forget them on Christmas morning—most of the Christmas articles were returned to the rightful owners before Christmas Eve.

Range of Articles.
Lost articles included practically every imaginable purchase one could make. There were popcorn, Christmas cards, pens, scarfs, ash trays, umbrellas, toys, wearing apparel—even false teeth and Christmas liquor.

One of the most pathetic losses was reported at Terminal station Christmas Eve. A passenger dropped a pint of whiskey as he stepped on the train. He turned slowly, looked sheepishly at the train attendant and said: "That my friend, can be marked up in your lost and found column as a 'total loss.'"

On the Lakewood car line of the Georgia Power Company, a negro found a purse containing $35 lying on a seat after a woman left the car. Evidently, it was her Christmas funds. The negro turned the money over to the conductor.

Franklin, a short time later, the little lady called the street car lost and found department. "I lost a hat," she said. The Lakewood car arrived about that time and the purse was turned in. The woman was told to come get her purse and money. Happiness beamed.

On a northbound train, a young soldier from Columbus' Fort Benning, lost his uniform cap. He was sorely grieved and showed a slight fear—through several drinks of spirits. Apparently he called the conductor, "Mister, please help me find my cap—I may have left it on the other train—but my Christmas will be ruined if I have to think of what my top sergeant will say to me if I return without my cap."

On the street cars, the trains, the taxis and the buses, the most consistently lost articles were the umbrellas, and with the rain of yesterday these customers missed this little article and frantically began calling the lost and found departments. They were all returned.

J. A. Robinson, street railway lost and found director, reported approximately 200 articles were left on the cars during the 10 days preceding Christmas. Most numerous of these were umbrellas and gloves—and strangely enough, when gloves were lost, more pairs were reported missing than singles. He insists that no more articles were left on cars during Christmas than at any other time.

"We did not see one record though," he vowed to "Horn of the first," the children were left on the cars during a Christmas season.

Neatly packed gifts, all ready to be delivered, were found on busy streets and in the cars during the holiday season. These were kept several months and then sold if no one claimed them.

The railroad kept their lost and found articles six months. If no claim has been received in that time, they are sold to the highest bidder.

FINAL SERVICES HELD FOR ARTHUR BRISBANE

Journalist Given Burial of Country Squire at Vast Jersey Estate.

ALLAIRE, N. J., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Arthur Brisbane, noted journalist, was given the burial of a country squire today.

His body was placed in a vault on the highest knoll of his 5,000-acre estate. Watching the rites from the six-story tower on the hill were members of his family.

In the tower, with its view of the deserted village of Allaire which Brisbane restored to life as a Boy Scout camp, and with its sweep of the Manasquan river to the sea six miles eastward, the former editor once loved to study and write.

Although Brisbane traveled widely, the estate and its huge mansion had been his sanctuary in life. Few persons ever passed through the gates.

To death, five automobiles accompanied the hearse which brought the body from New York, and they carried their passengers away 25 minutes after they entered the estate.

In them were pallbearers who included William Randolph Hearst, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, of New York; Walter Chrysler, Alfred Knudsen, Senator A. Harry Moore and W. Warren Barbour, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, of New York, and other prominent financiers, business, politics and journalism.

The only other mourners were the family, a few old friends and a dozen men from service of the church and state. The funeral was held at the Presbyterian church.

Members of the family said a moulous vault would be erected above the body.

The public paid its tribute in New York, where more than 2,000 persons filled St. Bartholomew's church and the surrounding streets.

West yesterday attended a session of the sinking fund commission and sinking funds bonds, amounting to $863,500, was counted in the vaults of the First National Bank. The commission will report to council on this matter.

MAYORS TO FIGHT POWER COMPANIES

Parley To Seek to Further Municipal Ownership of Utilities.

DECATUR, Ala., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Representatives of municipalities in four southeastern states will meet here tomorrow to organize a permanent group to "further municipal ownership of utilities" and "combat power companies" opposing municipal ownership.

Mayor Roy Ingram, of Tarrant, City, who called the meeting and will preside as temporary chairman, said today at least 60 cities in Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Georgia were attending.

Ingram said the meeting would be asked for "an expression of policy" regarding the Tennessee Valley Authority, but emphasized that the group was not to be a "TVA" group.

Ingram and many of those invited to tomorrow's meeting attended a municipal conference at Chattanooga which "adjourned forever" recently after City Manager George Dempster, of Knoxville, charged it was "attempts to keep over the TVA's shoulder" and was "embarrassing to TVA."

Resolutions to be offered tomorrow include one to "petition congress to repeal the power of federal courts to enjoin federal, state and municipal officials on the alleged unconstitutionality of federal statutes unless such constitutional has previously been denied by the United States supreme court."

The Tarrant mayor said a similar resolution to curb state courts was "under consideration."

DELEGATES WARNED TO KEEP MEET "TIGHT"

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Mayor James S. Elmore, of Knoxville, said tonight that if the conference of city officials at Chattanooga, Ala., tomorrow "isn't right we will break it up."

The mayor will attend the meeting with City Manager George Dempster and Councilman C. C. Smith and W. A. Cockrum, the latter members of the city council power committee.

A recent meeting of officials of Tennessee at Chattanooga was unexpectedly "adjourned forever" after City Manager Dempster charged it was "an attempt to keep over the TVA's shoulder" and was "embarrassing to TVA."

PER CAPITA DEBT IN U.S.
IS PLACED AT $314
CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The total per capita public debt in the United States reached $314 in June, 1936, Mayor Newcomer, of Chicago, said today.

Miss Newcomer, in a paper prepared for the afternoon session, said $200 of the debt was owed the federal government, $100 to local municipalities and $14 to the state. The figures were net.

From the best available data, which she said was inadequate as to state and local debt, Miss Newcomer fixed the net public debt in the United States in 1936 at $40,344,000,000, divided as follows: federal $25,729,000,000; local $12,792,000,000; state $1,823,000,000.

At the end of 1929, she said, the total debt was $28,154,000,000.

LEAVE BUDGET PUZZLE TO NEW REGIME—KEY

Mayor Pledges Aides to Full Co-operation With His Successor.

Suggestion that the 1936 budget commission, which meets today, leave to the Hartfield administration the job of deciding department allocations for 1937, was made yesterday by Mayor Key.

In a letter to B. Graham West, city comptroller, the mayor wrote: "Assure Mr. Hartfield we are all in complete accord with his announced policy in favor of a sound, economic administration, and that we will co-operate with him fully."

"I suggest, as to the budget, that we anticipate all revenue we can which is reasonably in sight; to go beyond that would probably increase the deficit, which under present conditions is unthinkable. I think we should confine ourselves only to anticipations. The matter of appropriations is the concern and responsibility of the incoming administration, and we should leave it entirely in their hands without any suggestions."

Mr. Key is ill at his home and will not attend the session of the commission at 10 o'clock this morning in the city hall.

A tentative budget for 1937 has been compiled by Comptroller West and will be submitted to the commission this morning. The comptroller refused to divulge the exact amount of revenue anticipated for next year, but it was understood the figure is slightly smaller than the approximate amount of $9,500,000 received in 1936.

West yesterday attended a session of the sinking fund commission and sinking funds bonds, amounting to $863,500, was counted in the vaults of the First National Bank. The commission will report to council on this matter.

1,000 TVA WORKERS TO GET PAY HIKES

New Wage Scale for 15,
000 Other Employees To Take Effect Jan. 1.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Approximately 1,000 of the 4,500 salaried employees of the Tennessee Valley Authority will get pay increases Friday under a new rating set-up.

A new wage scale for 15,000 workmen on an hourly basis, also is scheduled to go into effect January 1. Representatives of the TVA and workers have agreed upon the scale but it yet lacks the approval of directors.

Under the set-up for salaried employees, an employee will be graded unsatisfactory, satisfactory or very satisfactory. A satisfactory rating brings an increase and a very satisfactory rating means a double promotion in the same classification with a double pay increase. An unsatisfactory grading means a transfer, demotion or dismissal.

Gordon Clapp, personnel director, said the increase will be on the following scale:

Those receiving up to $1,280 a year—$150.
Up to $1,500—$180.
Up to $3,500—$300.
Up to $5,000—$400.
From $5,000 up—$500.

Those getting an increase will receive only half of the increase the first six months of 1937. The full increase goes into effect next July 1.

EXTENSION IS GIVEN IN CANAL DISPUTE

Opposition Granted More
Time in Which to File
Briefs With U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Army engineers granted an extension of time today for the filing of two briefs opposing completion of the Florida ship canal.

Representative J. Hardin Peterson, of Florida, who testified before a recent hearing by the board of engineers for Rivers that the canal was not justified economically, was given until next Saturday to place his written argument in the record.

Railroads opposing the waterway were granted an extension until later in the week for their brief against the canal's completion.

Harry H. Buckman, consulting engineer for the ship canal authority, filed a brief today containing arguments for the project, and an opposing brief was submitted by the Florida Water Conservation League.

Brigadier General George B. Pillsbury, chairman of the engineers' board, said members were studying arguments for and against the project and probably would make a report to the chief of engineers "sometime during January."

EARLY PROSECUTION OF DOPE RING ASKED

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Federal officials moved tonight for immediate prosecution of conspiracy indictments against three men accused of connection with what Assistant United States Attorney William T. McCarthy said was a $1,000,000 New England narcotics ring.

A federal grand jury indicted the 19 today, charging them with conspiracy to violate federal narcotics acts.

Most of those indicted will be arraigned tomorrow before Federal Judge Hugh D. McClellan, McCarthy announced.

Today's indictments included Thomas Arino, whose fingerprints later were sent to Richmond and Norfolk, Va., police at their request.

Ruptured Men Get
$3.50 Truss Free
Pay No Money—Now or Ever, for This Truss

Kansas City, Mo.—A never ruptured method developed by a doctor is so successful he offers to give every ruptured man or woman who tries it, a $3.50 truss free. It does away with leg straps, elastic belts, binding aprons and harsh pads. After using it, many have reported their ruptures better. Often in a very short time. Others say they no longer need any support. The method will be sent on 30 days' trial and he will send the $3.50 truss free with it. If the method does not help your rupture return it and keep the $3.50 truss for your trouble. If you are ruptured just write E. O. FULTON DELEGATION TO DINE LEGISLATURE

All Members Invited to Non-Political Affair Here
January 13.

A nonpolitical dinner for all members of the Georgia legislature will be given January 13 by the Fulton delegation, which will confer with the DeKalb delegation at a special meeting January 5, State Senator G. Everett Millican announced yesterday.

Governor-elect Rivers and Mayor-elect Hartfield, together with Governor Talmadge, former Governors Dorsey, Slater, Hardman and Walker and the publishers of the three Atlanta newspapers, will be invited guests.

Millican said he sent out letters yesterday asking all members of the general assembly to attend the dinner, which will be held at the Ansley hotel.

The Fulton and DeKalb delegations will meet at 6:30 o'clock January 5 at the Ansley hotel to map legislation affecting the city of Atlanta, Millican said.

A number of bills, including one which would bring about the merger of the city of Atlanta with Fulton county, will be discussed. The legislators will thresh out the legislation needed to reduce costs of operation of the city and possibly for bringing in increased revenue.

Complete accord among the two state senators, Millican and Paul Lindsay, and the three representatives from each county will be sought on all local legislation which is to be submitted to the assembly, it was said.

HOWARD GELBERT, 70, PASSES AT HOSPITAL AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Widely Known Fraternal Leader Was Former Editor of Insurance Paper.

C. O. A. Rauschenberg, Inc., and former editor of the Insurance Herald, died yesterday morning at a private hospital after a brief illness.

A pioneer resident of the East Lake section of Atlanta, Mr. Geldert was widely known in fraternal affairs. He was a member of Gate City Masonic lodge, the Atlanta consistory of Scottish Rite Masons and of Tauxah Temple of the Shrine. He was known as the father of the Atlanta DeMolay Club, having been a co-founder and charter member.

A native of Nova Scotia, he had been a resident of Atlanta since 1901. He was a member of the grand council of DeMolay and was the first secretary of the Rotary Club.

Mr. Geldert was stricken ill last Tuesday, but apparently was on the road to recovery when he suffered a relapse late Christmas night.

He resided with his grandparents, David Aldrich, at 2330 Memorial drive.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Winifred Beckwith, of Riverside, Cal., and Mrs. Isabelle Dimock, of Nova Scotia, and a brother, B. D. Geldert, of Sweetwater, Texas.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at Spring Hill, with Dr. Louis D. Newton officiating.

Pallbearers will be F. S. Gould, W. Z. Turner, Francis E. Kamper, Joseph Gregg Jr., J. W. Setze Jr., Park A. Ballis, Thomas C. Law and George A. Bland.

Burial will be in East View cemetery, with Gate City Masonic lodge in charge of graveside services.

TVA SEEKS TO BLOCK ORDER FOR INJUNCTION

Authority Contends Two Rulings by Federal Courts on Same Facts, Conflict.

A petition filed by the Tennessee Valley Authority in federal court here seeks to prevent the Georgia Power Company from carrying out its Georgia expansion plan.

The injunction, granted December 22, 1936, by Federal Judge John J. Gore, of the northern district of Tennessee, involves 10 plaintiffs of which the Georgia Power Company is one.

Complaining against the injunction, TVA in its petition here claims the injunction conflicts with a previous order of Circuit Judge Samuel Sibley, sitting here, in which he refused to enjoin TVA from extending its lines in Georgia.

Judge Sibley handed down his decision May 28, 1936, on hearing a petition of the Georgia Power Company.

The present petition of TVA asserts facts in the two suits were the same.

'TRANSIENT HANGS SELF IN FLORIDA JAIL CELL

TAVARES, Fla., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A coroner's jury held today Harry Obine, 36-year-old transient fruit packer, committed suicide by hanging himself in his cell at the Lake county jail.

The death was not caused by the negligence of anyone, the jury decided.

Witnesses said Obine, arrested on a drunkenness charge, apparently stood on a table, looped a belt around his neck, tied it to an overhead pipe and kicked the table away.

'IT'S BEST THAT I DIE,' POPE PIUS DECLARES

Up until now he has insisted his illness was a passing ailment; that the pain which wrenches his whole left side was but temporary.

He called in Pietro Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi, who had waited for many days for an audience on the problems of the congregation for the propagation of the faith, which he heads.

Then he sent his blessing to 300 newlywed couples whom he was unable to receive. The papal majordomo, Mgr. Aborio Mella, presented the couples with the Holy Father's gifts of roses, medals and booklets on matrimony.

His Holiness, lying motionless in a room flooded with cold and brilliant sunshine, also received Eugenio, Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, who alone has been supposed to confer with the ailing Pope.

Dr. Amanti Milani spent nearly five hours at his bedside during the day and members of the pontifical expressed deep concern that the Pope, whose paralysis now has spread from his legs along his left side and arm, had suffered a night of torturing pain.

The whole Vatican went about its day in a hushed and anxious atmosphere. At morning masses, prayers for the alleviation of the Pope's pain were added to the pleas that his life be spared.

Instead of going to the Vatican on New Year's Eve this year, members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Holy See will be received by Cardinal Pacelli in St. John Lateran. There they will attend a special New Year's Eve mass to be celebrated by the papal secretary of state.

LAMAR ELKIN RITES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Lamar Elkin, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Elkin, who died Sunday of burns suffered two weeks ago when he fell into scalding water at his home, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at New Hope church, near Acworth, Ga.

The Rev. W. M. Hart will officiate and burial will be in the churchyard with Harold H. Sims in charge.

Roberts To Take Reins on Friday As Georgia Farm Commissioner

Columbus Roberts, of Columbus, commissioner-elect of agriculture, announced yesterday he will assume his new office Friday "because the state department of agriculture at present is not turning a hand to help the farmers of Georgia."

The new commissioner said he had arranged to be given his oath of office by Governor Talmadge at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. He said he would use fees collected by the department as far as he could.

"If the fees we collect and which we have 30 days to turn into the treasury are not sufficient I will pay the cost of operating out of my own pocket in order that the needed service be resumed," Roberts said. "I believe the general assembly will reimburse me if I have to use any of my own money."

At the same time Commissioner Roberts announced that three well-known Georgians, all of whom once were candidates for commissioner of agriculture themselves, had agreed to accept appointments in his office.

R. F. Burch Jr., of Eastman, who sought the office in 1932, will be the director of the state system of farmers' markets while Hamilton Ralls, of Hogansville, who likewise was a candidate for commissioner in 1932 will be the director of the state bureau of markets and editor of the Market Bulletin. Burch was also state supervisor of purchases under Governor Russell.

Dr. J. M. Sutton, state veterinarian ousted by Talmadge, will return to the department as chief of the veterinary division.

"Every Talmadge-Linder appointee will be replaced," Roberts said, setting at rest rumors that several Linder appointees would be retained. "I will give them all 15 days' notice. The department is not hitting a lick and December one is the last day of the month. Fertilizer is not being inspected and other functions of the department have ceased."

Roberts said he had not decided who will be his chief clerk and general assistant and also that he was not ready to announce a successor to Dr. C. Reynolds Clark, the retiring state chemist.

Meanwhile, it was learned auditors already have taken over the books of the retiring commissioner, Tom Linder, and expect to have a complete audit ready for the general assembly when it convenes January 11.

Alleged Mail Box Thief Captured And Held for Federal Grand Jury

The quick eye and retentive memory of an Atlanta merchant resulted yesterday in federal officials putting 24-year-old Edwin G. Gockley away in Fulton tower for federal grand jury action on charges of robbing apartment house mail boxes, forging checks and stealing automobiles in two states.

The tall, blond, well-dressed youth, married but two months ago to an attractive girl of Charleston, S. C., M. Elkin, who died Sunday of burns suffered two weeks ago when he fell into scalding water at his home, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at New Hope church, near Acworth, Ga.

The Rev. W. M. Hart will officiate and burial will be in the churchyard with Harold H. Sims in charge.

Gockley admitted he is the mail-box thief who had been stealing checks from apartment houses in the Piedmont park section for two weeks before Christmas, cashing them at local retail stores. He admitted he had stolen two automobiles; one in Richmond and another in Macon.

Had Own System.

Postal inspectors had been set on his trail as check after check was stolen and cashed and the forgery detected. Up and down the streets in the area where Gockley worked unconcernedly, spotters watched the apartment mail boxes. When a check was received, had a system of his own.

He worked as a salesman for the Georgia Power Company, where he was employed during the holiday rush. He went from house to house selling electric appliances and inspectors who would have seen him walk into an apartment house with a vacuum cleaner or a floor lamp, would never have suspected he was the man who was rifling the mail boxes in the hallways of the apartments, they admitted yesterday.

Warnings had been broadcast to merchants by the postal inspectors and a description had been furnished by someone who had seen him take a letter out of a mail box. A. L. Zachry, a merchant of St. Peachtree street, was approached by Gockley, December 22, and asked to cash a check. Zachry detected the resemblance of Gockley to the criminal description and summoned S. H. Gresham, detective in charge of the Stores Mutual

HOOVER IS REPORTED SEEKING HOME IN EAST

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A city real estate agent said tonight Herbert Hoover is negotiating for the purchase of a suburban Philadelphia estate, but close friends of the former president declared there was "nothing to it."

The agent, Cornelius McGroarty, asserted Mr. Hoover submitted offers to buy Austell Hall, the impressive Wynocte estate of the late John Gribble.

Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, wife of the editor of the Saturday Evening Post and close Hoover friend, scouted the report.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, since leaving the White House in 1933, have resided in Palo Alto, Cal.

DUTCH OIL CZAR SEEKS TO SPUR FOOD TO NAZIS

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Sir Henri Deterloo, Dutch oil magnate, today placed a sum estimated at 10,000,000 guilders ($3,400,000) at the disposal of Dutch farmers in two points to lessen their distress and facilitate export of agricultural produce to Germany.

This scheme has the special consent of The Netherlands government. It is outside the scope of the clearing agreement existing between The Netherlands and Germany.

Sir Henri, chairman of the Royal Dutch Shell Petroleum Company, was in Germany, where he purchased a house near Berlin following his marriage to a German woman, Charlotte Mina Knack, last June 2.

Atlanta's Police Radio Heard 2,400 Miles Away

A call sent over Atlanta's police radio station, WPDY, was heard 2,400 air miles away, it was revealed yesterday by Kirk Simmons, on duty as broadcaster from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight.

Simmons said he received a postcard from H. A. Martin, of Company 1,922, CCC, at Corvallis, Ore., stating a test call was received at 10 o'clock on the night of December 22. "The call was clear and understandable out here," the postcard stated.

"Not up for a 400-watt station," said Simmons. He added he believed it was the farthest distance the station has been heard since it began operation.

80 Killed in Planes, But '36 Safest Year

By the Associated Press.

Scores died in air crashes during 1936, but seven major tragedies, involving 80 lives, attracted the most attention.

The worst disaster occurred in the year's first month, when 17 plunged to death in an Arkansas box.

Fortune rode with two planes carrying 26 persons during the year. Both ships landed as wreckage, but no lives were lost.

The year's worst air disasters included:

January 14—Seventeen killed when airliner fell near Goodwin, Arkansas.

April 5—Army bomber fell near Fredericksburg, Pa., killing five.

April 7—Eleven killed in crash of commercial transport near Uniontown, Pa.

August 5—Eight died in fall of airliner at St. Louis.

September 5—Ten killed in crash of sight-seeing plane at Pittsburgh.

September 20—Motion picture plane fell near Chicago, killing four.

December 15—Transport plane carrying seven disappeared between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City. Fate still unknown.

December 26—Six killed in test flight at Dallas, Texas.

December 27—Plane carrying 12 crashed near Burbank, Cal. All died.

Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America, said in a statement last night that in spite of December's accidents, domestic air lines had established a record for safety during the year that was "substantially better than any previous 12-month period."

Air lines carried 1,140,000 passengers, of whom 45 lost their lives in accidents on scheduled airlines, Gorrell said.

Translated into passenger-miles, he said, it meant that a person could fly at 160 miles an hour for 17 years and not be killed.

Figures showed, Gorrell asserted, that a person has been twice as safe this year on a regular airline as when driving his automobile.

12 ARE FOUND KILLED ABOARD MISSING PLANE

from where searchers found the shapeless wreckage, strewn there in pieces. The nose of the ship was smashed to pieces. Within was the body of Copilot Robert McLean.

The body of Blom hung from an opened door.

Ponder Removal.

A rescue crew, including airline officials, searched at the scene. The problem of extricating the bodies from the debris and carrying them out of the valley was acute.

The body of Blom was the sight of a Christmas wreath hanging over the door in the passengers' compartment.

A posse of searchers from the New-hall substitution of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office was the first to reach the scene of the tragedy.

E. Johnson, of the United States department, said the liner apparently crashed a few seconds after Blom radioed at 7:00 last night asking the radio beam to guide him through rain into Union Air terminal at Burbank.

"Otherwise," said Johnson, "we would have surely heard from it in the next few minutes. The radio was working strong."

This was further borne out by the fact that the plane was little, if any, off its regular route when it crashed.

Searchers arrived on the scene with surgical supplies, unneeded. Ambulances and undertaker's vehicles waited on the road miles away for the 12 bodies. D. B. Kimmel, United operations manager, said it might be impossible to remove the victims until tomorrow.

By nightfall seven bodies had been cut free of the wreckage. A team and backboard were sent up a narrow, slippery trail to take them to the highway. Four of the 12 victims were women.

Traffic Unaffected.

The crash had no effect upon its passengers traffic, United Air Line officials said, explaining that all planes leaving Burbank for San Francisco carried capacity or near-capacity loads.

Many of the 500 searchers, after trudging laboriously over the rough ground, were first sighted late in the afternoon. Sheriff's officers began to organize parties to hunt them.

It required five hours from the time the wreckage was first sighted for searching parties to reach the scene and report to the airport.

While operations planes soared overhead, guiding them to the scene, a motorcade of about 20 automobiles,

Clark Gable Held Certain to Play Role of Rhett in 'Gone With Wind'

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—From sources close to both the Selznick-International and M.G.-M. studios, it was learned the fears of movie fan readers of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind" that Clark Gable might not play the male role of Rhett Butler can now be set at rest.

Let joy reign supreme; the fans have practically won their letter-writing battle. Although contracts have not been actually signed, the authoritative channels indicate clearly there is hardly a doubt that Gable will play the part in the film version that thousands have been demanding that he play in letters they have written to David Selznick, under whose auspices the picture is to be produced.

Gable, the almost unanimous choice of the book's readers in the greatest voluntary casting fiasco in which the public has ever indulged, has been conferring almost daily with Selznick. After their most recent discussion—one that lasted two hours—Gable emerged with a broad grin on his face. While the swarthy star, who is now playing "Parnell," would not admit a deal had been completed, he was accumulating evidence continued to indicate only Gable is being considered for the Butler part.

Most significant of all is the recent announcement made in starting production on "Gone With the Wind." This is apparently to correspond with Gable's free time. Originally it had been set to begin February 1, Gable, however, is to start a new picture, "Saratoon," at his home studio on February 15. He will not be finished with the role until the latter part of April. It is believed more than a coincidence that May 1 was decided on as the new inaugural date for shooting "Gone With the Wind."

All along, M.G.-M. seemed eager enough to shift its schedule on Gable pictures. The equally important job of starting date, feeling that the presence of the star in one of the greatest fictional roles ever written (and one also made to order for his type) would enhance his future box office value almost beyond speculation. But Gable himself is the one who held up the parley.

He told this writer six weeks ago he did not care to play the role and pointed out in some rather shrewd reasoning why he had no interest in it.

"The part of Rhett Butler will make any screen actor who plays it a marked man," said Gable at that time. "The fellow assigned to that role will be picked to pieces by the biggest and most critical fan jury of all times. I don't want to be the goat."

But Gable has changed his attitude in the last few weeks. Friends have urged and coaxed him into looking at his opportunities from a more optimistic point of view. On top of that, his secretaries have been pointing to the significant fact that the Gable fan mail total has been jumping several hundred letters a week—all from anxious book-movie fans attempting to buck up his courage.

A handsome bonus is also reported dangling at the end of Selznick's stick, one of sufficient size to make almost anyone forget about art for art's sake. Money still talks, even with a Gable.

While the Rhett Butler role has seemingly narrowed down to the one candidate, the equally important job of interpreting Scarlett O'Hara will be fought out between a pair of actresses—Miriam Hopkins and Tallulah Bankhead. Miss Bankhead took some tests for the part two months ago, and just the other night flew into Hollywood incognito to take more. Her play, "Reflected Glory," running in New York, was closed for one week to permit Tallulah to make the trip out here, which is pointed indicating that her chances are not being looked upon lightly by Selznick.

Miriam is a native of Georgia, birthplace of the author and seat of most of the story's action. Miss Mitchell's only request to the Selznick office in connection with the adaptation and filming of her story was that a Georgia girl play the role of Scarlett. Miss Bankhead is from Alabama.

a sufficient margin. I would have hated to come over those mountains with a 3,500-foot ceiling."

FORD IS GRANTED NEW AUTO PATENT

Design, Calls for Engine To Be Mounted in Rear.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Patent officials reported today a patent for a new automobile design, embodying an engine mounted in the rear, has been granted to Henry Ford.

The engine would be mounted crosswise to the chassis, eliminating the lengthy drive shaft of the conventional type of car.

The clutch, transmission and differential are built as a unit, and mounted on rubber.

Ford's application for the patent was filed in 1935. Issuance of rights on the new design was delayed, however, while the patent office made a comprehensive search to determine whether any earlier developments had been duplicated.

Ford did not say in his application what use might be made of the new design. He assigned the patent rights to the Ford Motor Company, of Dearborn, Mich.

No body design was submitted by the manufacturer, only plans for the chassis is being filed.

IRENE BARRYMORE PAID LAST TRIBUTE ON COAST

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Services were held today for Irene Fenwick Barrymore, former stage actress and wife of Lionel Barrymore, film player.

The widower seemed an unusually tragic figure as he stood with his brother, John Barrymore, and a few friends before the casket in Calvary cemetery mausoleum. The Rev. Michael J. Mullins, pastor of the Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills, officiated.

Mrs. Barrymore died on Christmas Eve. As Irene Fenwick, she was for many years one of America's outstanding actresses.

PRODUCTION OF GOLD HITS ALL TIME RECORD

Effect of 30 Per Cent Gain in Year on Values Is Declared Problematical.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Treasury experts calculated the world's 1936 crop of gold today at a new peak and pondered its effect on international money markets.

Coincident estimates from the Bureau of Mines indicated the forthcoming annual report on production of precious metals in the United States would show an all-time record harvest of both gold and silver. The pace was expected to be maintained for several years.

Production estimates for the world, including Russia, suggested the total output of gold this year might approximate 40,000,000 ounces, compared with a previous peak of 30,000,000 in 1935.

Estimates for the first 10 months of 1936 showed Russia alone mined 4,500,000 ounces more than during the corresponding period last year. World production outside Russia stepped up 2,500,000 ounces.

Normally, experts said, such a large amount of new gold would tend to lower the 1935 crop of money. The tight grip governments now have on their monetary structures, however, makes it difficult to predict how the outpouring will be reflected in money markets, they said.

It was the general opinion that the effect would be cushioned in the United States by the treasury's recently announced decision to "sterilize" newly acquired gold to prevent its use in credit inflation.

New mine domestic gold was estimated at 3,500,000 ounces during the first 10 months of the year, compared with about 3,000,000 for the same period in 1935. An unprecedented upturn in silver production carried the 10-month output of that metal to 51,000,000 ounces, 14,000,000 more than the previous all-time record of 37,000,000 mined in 1915.

Stabilized silver values at 77 cents, and the increase from $20.61 to $35 an ounce for gold were chief factors influencing continued increases in production, officials said.

FLORIDA GIRL KILLED, FATHER HURT IN CRASH

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Miss Katherine B. Harper, 19, was killed and her father, Mayor Charles T. Harper, of Homestead, critically injured today in the collision of their automobile with an ambulance.

Mayor Harper, a produce and fruit broker, who took municipal office last month, suffered a skull fracture. His daughter, a freshman at the Florida State College for Women, was home for the holidays.

The ambulance was returning to the company's office after taking patient to the De Cade County hospital at Kaddell. Lloyd Kroll, 24, and William Brown, 25, the ambulance crew, received cuts and bruises.

Miss Harper is survived by her parents and a sister, Cecelia. She and her father were returning home from the horse races at Tropical park. Harper came to Homestead 20 years ago as agent for the Florida East Coast railway.

Boy Pushes Bank Button And Finds What Happens

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—John F. Harper, seven, called on his mother, Mrs. Carol Frazier, a telephone operator, in a downtown bank today, spied a button on the phone switchboard, and pushed it, asking "What happens when you push this?"

She didn't have to tell him. The burglar alarm system started whining as the button went down and whined for 12 minutes, bringing squads of policemen with drawn guns and a crowd of several hundred passersby.

FEDERAL LOAN PLAN TO AID FARM TENANTS URGED BY ALEXANDER

Home Ownership Is Termed Basis for Sound American Life.

W. W. Alexander, slated for the post of rural resettlement administrator, suggested yesterday "some modification" of a plan of government loans to help tenant farmers buy land and pay back the money over a long period at low interest rates.

"In the long run," he added, "if we are to build a sound American life, we must have land and home ownership" by residents.

Alexander, a former Methodist minister who was deputy resettlement administrator, will leave today for Washington.

He said in an interview he understood the executive order for his appointment to the post left vacant by resignation of Rexford Guy Tugwell, "has been approved by the President."

Effective January 1, when the RA becomes a part of the Department of Agriculture.

His chief immediate problem, he said, is "the job of taking care of 400,000 families in the drought area of the plains states."

With that over, when farmers make another crop, he will focus attention on the general problems of resettling. The purpose of the RA, he explained, is "to help farm tenants improve their standard of living and climb the agricultural ladder to land ownership."

Assistance of "this increasing number of landless farm people whose income is so low as to make impossible any kind of a decent standard of living" must become a permanent part of any program to improve agricultural conditions," he went on, speaking chiefly of the situation in the south.

"You cannot think of low income for farmers apart from general farm conditions."

Improvement can be had through "increasing and stabilizing farm income . . . and through diversified farming," he said.

He described some form of crop control program as "essential" to any "general farm improvement."

Another method for raising living standards is the production on the farms of table vegetables and feed for livestock and raising of livestock, he added.

Whether the activities of the RA can be enlarged to give greater assistance to farmers in this line "depend on congress," Alexander said. The budget for this year for the RA is $85,000,000. That is "the minimum" that will be asked of congress next year, he said.

COLLINS AND THOMAS TO ADDRESS MASONS

Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, and Judge E. D. Thomas, post of the Georgia Masons, will be the principal speakers at East Point tonight at a joint meeting of the Masonic lodges of East Point, Hapeville and College Park.

The joint meeting will be held in observance of St. John's Day.

Batista Approves Bru's Government Policy

Approval of the pledged policy of President Federico Bru of "honesty in government" was given by Colonel Fulgencio Batista, strong man behind the Cuban government, after Bru had held the first meeting of his cabinet. Bru, left, and Batista, right, are shown after the meeting. Bru became President after President Miguel Gomez was ousted because of his opposition to Batista's sugar tax measure.

SIGMA DELTA KAPPA TO CONVEVE TONIGHT

Judge Virlyn Moore Will Address Initiation and Banquet Session.

The annual convention of Sigma Delta Kappa, national legal fraternity, will open at 6 o'clock tonight at the Biltmore hotel, with representatives from the 28 chapters of the fraternity expected to attend.

A. V. McRae, of Detroit, national president of the fraternity, will preside.

The convention also will be attended by L. W. Horning, executive vice secretary of the fraternity. Emmett Johnson, of Atlanta, national treasurer, is in charge of arrangements.

The meetings will continue through tomorrow.

The featured event will be the initiation and banquet tonight, with Judge John D. Humphries, of the Fulton superior court, as the principal speaker. Judge Virlyn Moore, of Fulton superior court, will preside and introduce the speakers.

Among those to be initiated will be Lawrence S. Camp, United States attorney, and Judge E. M. Creel, chancellor of the circuit court, Birmingham.

Seated with the national officers and initiates at the speakers' table will be Chief Justice Richard B. Russell Sr. and Associate Justice Frank Jenkins, of the Georgia supreme court; Judge Jesse Wood, of Fulton superior court, and others.

BRADY FUNERAL RITES WILL BE HELD TODAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Funeral services for William J. Brady, actor, will be held tomorrow forenoon from the Brady residence in Astoria, Long Island, and will be followed by a requiem mass at Our Lady Mount Cemetery church. Burial will be at Putnam, Conn. (St. Mary's cemetery).

Brady, a charter member of the Actors' Equity Association, died Saturday at his home after a year's illness at the age of 66. He had appeared in productions with Douglas Fairbanks, Judith Anderson and other stage stars.

His widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham Brady, and three sisters survive.

HOUSE OVERRIDES GOMEZ'S TAX VETO

Opposition to Sugar Measure
Cost Cuban President
His Office.

HAVANA, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The house of representatives today overrode by a vote of 115 to 13, former President Miguel Mariano Gomez's veto of the army's sugar tax bill, opposition to which cost him his office.

The measure provides all sugar manufactured in Cuba will be taxed nine cents for each bag of 325 pounds and the revenue, estimated at $1,500,000 a year, will be used by the army to establish and maintain rural schools.

Gomez's opposition to the bill led directly to his ouster and he was succeeded by Vice President Federico Laredo Bru.

DETECTIVES PLAN BODY EXHUMATION

Triple Killing Probe Awaits Result of Search of Knoxville Grave.

Detectives M. B. Johnson and Richard Englebert expect to leave tomorrow night or Thursday morning for Knoxville with papers permitting the exhumation of the body of Spencer Mitchell, one of the three men killed in the recent gun fight near the police station.

They expressed hope the case would be ready to be presented to the grand jury at next Tuesday's session. Until the Mitchell body is exhumed the detectives and solicitor's investigators are making time, as no new local developments have been uncovered.

The body of Nick Ransom, second man killed in the fight, was exhumed last week and no bullets were found. Police are seeking to determine which pistols, of those they have in their possession, killed each of the three men.

In the meantime, Mrs. Nick Ransom and her husband, her brother-in-law, are free on bail charged with "disorderly conduct-murder." Both were present at the time of the shooting, detectives said.

NEW HOME NEEDED BY MRS. TALMADGE

House Destroyed by Fire
Must Be Replaced as Governor Leaves Office.

One of the main problems of Mrs. Talmadge when she leaves the executive mansion with the Governor next month will be erection of a new home. Fire destroyed the house on their Telfair county farm two years before the Governor was elected to office.

The cow she brought with her to the Governor's mansion to furnish fresh milk for the family will be packed off to the farm with other belongings.

Plans of her daughter, Margaret, to attend school and son, Herman, to practice law "somewhere, he hasn't decided where," leave it necessary for her to make plans only for herself and the Governor.

Of one thing, though, Mrs. Talmadge is certain. She is going to have a good time farming.

The Governor already has said he wants to settle down as a farmer-editor, continuing publication of his personal newspaper, the Statesman, and running his farm near McIntae.

Sixty Stolen Chickens Recovered by Police

Fulton county police headquarters took on the appearance of a poultry farm yesterday.

Police seized two men on Bankhead avenue with a truck containing 60 chickens and took them to headquarters for questioning after Cobb county police had reported a number of chicken thefts in their county early yesterday morning.

By last night Policemen W. A. Vinson, J. B. Jackson, W. M. Riley and W. H. Tyler had returned all but two Rhode Island Reds to their rightful owners in Cobb county, and Lee Wallace and Ernest Johnson, of a Pryor street address, were lodged in Fulton tower on charges of "chicken stealing-larceny."

Why "BC" Relieves Headache and Neuralgia So Quickly

Many people wonder what there is about the "BC" formula that enables it to relieve headaches, neuralgia and similar pains of an inorganic character so quickly. The answer is simple. The "BC" formula is a special combination of proved, quick-acting ingredients of the type many physicians commonly prescribe, none of which are opium or any of its derivatives. These ingredients are carefully checked, and the manufacture of all "BC" is under

38 MILLION EXPENDED
BY TVA DURING 1936;

Authority Reports to Roosevelt on Multifarious Accomplishment.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Tennessee Valley Authority officials reported to the President today they had spent $116,303,207.11 up to June 30 this year.

Arthur E. Morgan, Harcourt A. Morgan, and David E. Lilienthal, TVA members, said appropriations and liabilities charged for the fiscal year 1936 were $37,949,267.07 and previous outlays totaled $78,353,940.04.

Returns on this investment, the report held, are earned when the TVA "facilities navigation, lowers a flood crest, or produces salable power."

"In performing one or all of these three functions the government will be putting the stream to its greatest use."

"However, in any conflict between power and navigation, 'power must give way,' and 'the more complete the development of the river, the less conflict is likely between different uses,' the officials said.

Integrated Plan.
As part of its integrated plan, the report continued, the TVA has been promoting the general welfare of the entire Tennessee river valley through development of recreational centers, reforestation, discovery of a great market for power, national defense in nitrate and chemical manufacturing at Muscle Shoals, Ala., and soil building experiments.

It held there soon would be a market for all available prime power, both publicly and privately produced.

Norris dam, by storing heavy seasonal rains of March, 1936, was given credit for reducing the subsequent Tennessee river flood crest by four feet, saving "more than $750,000 in property damage alone."

Discussing a proposed dam on the lower Tennessee in relation to another on the Ohio river near its confluence with the Mississippi, the report recommended a Tennessee river site at Gilbertsville, Ky., about 22 1/2 miles upstream from Paducah.

Find New Dam Site.
"A dam at this location would afford maximum benefits in navigation, flood storage and power," the report said. "As exploration also disclosed a feasible dam site on the Ohio river at Dog Island, a dam at Gilbertsville would have the additional advantage of preserving the possibility of the larger Ohio river project."

"The function of the Gilbertsville dam in flood control would be to regulate the backwater after its control discharge from storage above."

"The dam structures would consist of a concrete spillway section across the main channel, flanked by a large single-lift navigation lock and by a concrete non-overflow section provided with intakes and gates for a future powerhouse."

"Earth embankments on both banks would connect the concrete structures with the high ground. The crest length of the dam would be 25 feet, and of the concrete portion 140 feet."

MRS. R. M. STURGIS DIES OF AUTO HURTS

Mother of Atlantans Passes in Andalusia, Ala., Hospital.

Mrs. R. M. Sturgis, 78, mother of A. E. Sturgis, superintendent of the Southeastern Commerce Warehouse, and of Mrs. Ben E. Lowman, of 604 Lexington avenue, S. W., Atlanta, who was injured in an automobile accident Christmas Day on the highway between Andalusia and Searight, Ala., died yesterday at the Andalusia hospital.

She was fatally injured when the auto in which she was riding with Mr. and Mrs. Lowman, her grandson, Charles Lowman, and her son-in-law, Orion Rowell, overtook after striking a soft shoulder. Rowell was driving, and all occupants of the automobile sustained painful injuries. All others, however, are recovering.

In addition to Mr. Sturgis and Mrs. Lowman, she is survived by Mrs. H. L. Lowman, of Searight, and Mrs. Rowell.

Mrs. Sturgis and the Rowells went to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shreve, of Andalusia. Mrs. Shreve is a daughter of Mrs. Ben Lowman, of Atlanta. The party then left to visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lowman, of Searight. The accident occurred on the return trip to Andalusia.

ALPHA EPSILON PI ADJOURNS TONIGHT

Officers for 1937 Will Be Elected at Closing Session.

Two business sessions, a luncheon and a stag banquet tonight will bring to an end the three-day national convention of the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity being held here. Business sessions will be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, with the banquet slated for 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Feature of the farewell stag banquet will be the election of national officers for 1937 and selection of the 1937 convention city. Dr. Harvey Cox, president of Emory University, and Rabbi Harry H. Epstein, of the Ahavith Achim synagogue, will deliver the principal addresses.

Convention business of a minor nature was transacted at the two business sessions yesterday. Reports were heard from delegates representing the 26 chapters. Final committee reports are scheduled to be heard at this afternoon's session.

A formal dinner-dance last night was held in honor of the visiting delegates.

GRIFFIN MAN IS SLAIN IN LUNCHROOM HERE; ALLEGED KILLER HELD

Jealousy Over Girl Blamed for Ninth Homicide in Less Than Week.

The ninth homicide in the city of Atlanta in less than a week occurred early yesterday morning when Douglas D. English, 24, of Griffin, a textile worker, was shot to death in a lunchroom at 408 Whitehall street.

According to police reports, jealousy over a girl led to the shooting. A charge of suspicion of murder was placed against a man listed as W. E. Wilder, 29, of 391 Hood street, S. W.

Two others, listed as Herbert Gresham, 19, also of Griffin, and Henry Mooy, 25, of 392 Richardson street, were detained as material witnesses.

Detective Richard Englebert, assigned to the investigation yesterday, quoted Mooy as saying, "I don't remember a thing of what happened that morning."

Manager Tells of Shooting.

J. A. Atkins, night manager of the lunchroom, told police English and Gresham entered his establishment at about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning. A few minutes later, he said, Wilder entered, holding a .38-caliber pistol in his hand.

"Wilder said, 'I'm going to clean out this place,'" said Atkins, and then pointed the weapon at the feet of a negro employee, Matthews Fuller, who ran out the rear of the establishment. Gresham ducked to safety, as Wilder allegedly fired a single shot at English. The bullet struck English in the heart.

Although mortally wounded, he staggered from the lunchroom, and collapsed on the street. His brother, George English, who was seated in an automobile parked outside, ran to his aid, and when police arrived, found him holding his brother's head. The wounded man was taken to Grady hospital by police. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at the hospital.

Previous Encounter.

Police investigators learned that prior to the shooting, English and his brother visited the home of Mrs. Bertha Poole, 30, and Miss Hazel Gamble, 17, at 310 Richardson street. A short time later, Wilder and Mooy came to the home in a motorcycle.

In this connection, police learned that Wilder formerly went with Miss Gamble, but that she had not seen him lately.

Wilder and Mooy persistently rang the front doorbell, and Douglas English went to the front door. Heated words passed between the two men, police learned, and then Wilder and Mooy left the house.

A short time later, English and Gresham went to the lunchroom.

Grand Jury Action.

Detective Englebert said last night the case probably will go to the grand jury Friday. The death of English, who is survived by his wife and three brothers, marked the ninth homicide since December 22.

Of the homicides, four of those killed were white persons, and the remaining five were negroes.

The white persons slain, besides English, were Olin Henson, who was stabbed to death last Wednesday night, allegedly by his wife, Mrs. Eva Henson, in a quarrel over another woman, and Mrs. Bessie Chastain and her son, Claude, who were shot Christmas night in a Baker street apartment house.

CONSTITUTION AWARD CONTEST IS PRAISED

Senator George's Message.

Text of Senator George's message follows:

"Atlanta, Ga.

"The Constitution is performing a great public service in its Progressive Government awards. The contest of Georgia showing the greatest progress in local government in 1937. The contest always invites. National affairs.

"The spotlight is on national events. The Constitution's program puts the emphasis exactly where it belongs—at home on the conscience of the individual to which we play lip service at least depends on local self-government, administered by local officials responsive to intelligent local opinion.

"The program should awaken a keener interest in cleaner local government, in better roads, better schools, and be a real step forward in vocational training, in agriculture, general industry and home economics.

"The program is timely. Georgia faces a new day."

Congressman Tarver's Telegram.

Congressman Tarver's telegram follows:

"Editor Constitution, 'Atlanta, Georgia.' 'Your Progressive County Government awards for 1937 should prove a source of inspiration to all of those interested in the advancement of Georgia and her interests. As I understand it, the awards will depend not alone on the efficiency of the machinery of county governments, which would offer an incentive only to those composing official personnel, but upon every item of progress contributing to the general welfare and the improvement of schools, roads, churches, hospital facilities, agriculture, manufacturing, business, law observance and public morale generally will be considered.

"If this interpretation of your offer is correct, it offers every individual man and woman and child an opportunity to co-operate in winning an award for his county and should prove a powerful force for the advancement of the general public welfare. It is a pleasure to offer you and The Constitution any assistance in my power in your efforts."

Cox's Statement.

Following is Congressman Cox's statement:

"It is needless for me to praise a move so patently designed in the best interests of the people of Georgia, but I feel impelled to tell you that it is a fine and unselfish thing.

"The tradition of Georgia parallels the tradition of The Constitution. Both have been largely synonymous because The Constitution always has stood four square for Georgia.

"I am happy that The Constitution has exhibited so keen and so unselfish an interest in the welfare of the people of the state, but I am not surprised that it is typical of The Constitution.

"What I want to say now is that the Progressive Government awards offer the most unusual opportunity to Georgia's 159 counties and to the people of the state ever presented to any people.

"There will be no way to measure accurately the benefits of this program, but Georgia will reap a harvest of advantages thousands of times greater than the amount of the awards.

"I agree with The Constitution that county governments should keep pace with business, commercial, agricultural and industrial strides, and I am confident that the 159 counties of Georgia are ready to march forward to an unprecedented era of progress and prosperity.

RECOVERY SAID CAUSE OF FEWER LYNCHINGS

Better Racial Relations Cited by Tuskegee Institute
President.

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The return of prosperity, better racial relations and excellent work by law enforcement agencies were given today by Dr. P. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute, as prime factors in the sharp reduction in lynchings in 1936.

The institute's department of records and research announced deaths from mob violence dropped to nine, all negroes and all in southern states, as compared to 20 in 1935, 15 in 1934 and 25 in 1933.

Dr. Patterson said "the return of better business conditions removed a feeling of unrest, which is more apt to lead to violence than under ordinary conditions."

"Better racial feeling and better understanding, both promoted by continued educational campaigns, also contributed to the better showing," he said.

"The fine attitude of government officials and law enforcement agencies, such as the prompt and fearless action of Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, in several instances, ended several threatening situations," Dr. Patterson said.

"We hope, and have reason to believe," he said, "this trend away from mob action will continue."

Lynchings reported by the institute, by states:

Georgia five, Arkansas two, Florida one, Mississippi one.

Thirty-five persons were saved from possible mob action, the report said, including five in northern states. Armed forces were used in five instances.

In Atlanta, Dr. R. B. Eleazer, educational director of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, commented, "The decrease in the number of lynchings is a distinctly encouraging thing."

"It is obviously due to the educational campaigns being carried on by the churches, newspapers and various organizations. Officers are responding to enlightened public opinion, and are making a real deal more to prevent lynching."

WOMAN WHO RECALLED VISITS OF LINCOLN DIES

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Belle Scott-Uda, 91, who often recalled visits of Abraham Lincoln to her father's home in Danville, Ill., died of a heart attack today.

On one of Lincoln's visits, Mrs. Scott-Uda said, she sat on his knees and heard him explain how the supreme court's decision on the famous Dred Scott case of 1857 had strengthened slavery in the United States.

Mrs. Scott-Uda was a cousin of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of the former President.

WIDE FLUCTUATIONS IN GRAIN PRICES SEEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Wide swings in the price of wheat in the next few months were forecast by government grain experts today as prices for this chief bread grain reached a new peak at Chicago and then dropped 6 cents a bushel.

A scramble among European nations to buy wheat and the fact that the world supply is the smallest in 10 years, were said by the government experts to have sent prices upward.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported that government indicated ample reserves to care for all demands.

But the bureau added that, "with unsettled conditions in Europe, prices are likely to fluctuate more than usually."

MEXICO'S '37 BUDGET SHOWS 15 PCT. GAIN

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28.—(AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas submitted to both houses of congress today the 1937 federal budget of 297,480,000 pesos ($25,700,000).

The total represented an increase of 15 per cent over the 1936 budget.

President Cardenas' official representative said the budget would be slightly in excess of 300,000,000 pesos ($25,700,000) though Minister of Finance Eduardo Suarez recently estimated it would cost 320,000,000 pesos ($27,120,000).

Congress was expected to approve the budget without modification.

7 KILLED, 15 INJURED
AS GAS MAIN EXPLODES

VARESE, Italy, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A gas main exploded in a crowded business street here today, killing seven and injuring 15.

The explosion tore a great crater in the pavement, and flames and fragments of pipe were flying in every direction.

Panic was heightened because none of the people knew the source of the blast. Dead and dying were sprawled amid the debris, while the injured sought the shelter of doorways.

All the victims were struck by stones.

Four of the dead were women.

Reason for the explosion was not determined.

'It Was Horrible,' Sobs Playmate Of Mattson, in Telling of Kidnaping

'We Tried To Hide Out, Behind the Radio; Charles Was Such a Brave Boy, He Didn't Let Out a Squeak'; Girl Says Abductor Was Not Ugly.

SEATTLE, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Navy blue hat pulled low above her tear-stained face, Virginia Chatfield, 16, Seattle high school girl, came home today from Tacoma, where she was a terrified witness last night of the abduction of young Charles Mattson.

She was a house guest of the Mattson children and was with them when a masked and bearded kidnaper menaced them with a pistol and fled through a French window with the young boy.

Her hands trembled as she read a newspaper account of the kidnaping, and said that first she was quite alone. But as soon as the police came, she broke down.

"It was horrible," she exclaimed, "I don't think I will ever sleep again. I'll always see that man just standing there in the doorway, pointing a gun. He pointed it right at me."

"We tried to hide at first, behind the radio—I did, anyway. It's hard to remember details."

demand, but it would severely tax their modest resources.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men, announced in Washington that the entire strength of the Federal Bureau of Investigation had been thrown into the hunt.

Because of the apparent brutality of the kidnaper, first efforts were concentrated upon safe return of Charles.

Search for Body.

Betraying the grave fears of the boy's parents, and authorities as well, the police officers searched the underbrush of a gulley below the Mattson home, built on a hill above Puget sound.

The Mattson home, built recently at a cost of $20,000, was flanked by guards. Telephone workers strung five new lines to the house in order that incoming calls—perhaps from the kidnaper—might be received without delay.

The kidnaper had a revolver and might have been either drunk or under the influence of narcotics, according to the stories of Charles, brother and sister. They said he entered the Mattson home shortly after 9:30 Sunday (11:30 p. m., Atlanta time).

Had Taken Bath.

Charles had just taken a bath and was wearing a blue sports sweater and brown house slippers and gone to the sun porch.

His brother, William Jr., 16, a sister, Stuart, 14, and a younger brother, Charles, 14, of Seattle, awaited him. A moment before, Dr. and Mrs. Mattson telephoned from the home of friends to assure themselves that the children were all right.

Suddenly the children were terrified by a crash of glass and the bearded man, a mask covering the upper half of his face, reached in, unlatched the door and stepped before the children with a revolver in his hand.

The four children, who had been looking out on a twinkling Christmas tree on the Mattson lawn, froze with fear.

Backed Against Wall.

They were backed against a wall and the kidnaper, according to one version, searched William Jr. for money and, finding none, said in a flow of profanity:

"This ought to be better."

He seized upon Charles, a small boy for his age, and backed toward the door. He held the boy by the neck of his shirt, and the boy, who was wearing a dark jacket and a tan checked cap, was held up by the kidnaper.

Charles' hammering at the head of the door, rattled away the mask, revealing a dark face. The other children said the man was about 40 years old, five feet, seven inches tall, weighed about 145 pounds. They said he wore dark trousers, a blue zipper jacket and a tan checked cap.

While he held Charles under one arm the kidnaper reached in his pocket with his free hand and brought out the crumpled ransom note. He threw it on the floor.

William Jr. attempted to telephone his parents immediately, but received a busy signal. He then called police.

Many Hiding Places.

Tacoma is surrounded by desolate country, affording hundreds of places where the kidnaper and his victim might hide. Puget sound has many inlets for a getaway by water.

Charles was the fourth child to be kidnaped since March, 1932, when Bruno Richard Hauptmann stole the Lindbergh baby from his crib in Hopkinton, N. J. Other kidnappings involved adults.

The amended "Lindbergh" federal kidnaping law, enacted by congress in 1934, provided that if a victim has not been returned after seven days it shall be presumed that he has been transported across a state line. This gives federal agents definite jurisdiction.

In actual practice, however, local authorities usually ask the assistance of the G-men immediately after the abduction.

Congress Expected to Regulate Investment Trusts Activities.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Legislation completely separating the $2,000,000,000 investment trusts business from other forms of finance probably will be recommended to congress by the Securities Commission.

Nearing the end of a long study of investment trusts and their methods of doing business, the commission will begin hearings tomorrow on activities of the Liberty Shares Corporation of Buffalo.

The investigation was ordered by congress to determine whether the investment trust business should be regulated.

Commission officials were said to have reached the conclusion already that regulation is needed, and to be now exploring methods.

METAXAS INCREASES POWER OVER GREECE IN CABINET MANEUVER

General Forces Minister to Quit Following Attempts at Overthrow.

ATHENS, Dec. 28.—(AP)—General John Metaxas, diminutive iron man of Greece, strengthened his firm grip over the country's destinies today with a quick cabinet shift.

He installed Mr. Metaxas as provisional minister of the interior, succeeding George Skylakakis. The official announcement said Skylakakis resigned, but informed sources asserted it was undoubtedly under pressure.

Despite the recent arrests of several politicians for alleged attempts to overthrow his dictatorial regime of less than five months under the restored monarchy, the general remains firmly in the saddle today.

Under Metaxas, there can be no political strife, theoretically, because there are virtually no parties outside the government.

The general works persistently at the production of decrees which are hailed in the regimented press as resulting in benefits for the people.

Recently he imposed compulsory arbitration in all labor disputes, shortened hours, restrictions on capital leaving the country, and price fixing. Scarcely a day passes but the press, which General Metaxas and the book "discipline" when he assumed power last August 4, sings the premier's praises.

To increase public security, he added 1,000 men to the Athens police and another 2,000 to the gendarmerie.

TALMADGE INSURES GEORGIA'S BUILDINGS

however, that the incoming Governor will cancel the contracts as soon as he assumes office and require the companies to return the premiums, permitting them to retain the cost of the insurance. Governor Ruffin Laffoon, contracted for Kentucky insurance two or three days before he went out of office, Chandler cancelled the contracts as called for new bids.

New Call for Bids.

Friends of the Governor-elect said he had planned to issue a public call for bids on the insurance contracts and to award the contracts to the lowest competent bidder.

The sudden change of front on the state's insurance proved puzzling to capital observers yesterday. As late as two weeks ago the Governor is known to have stated positively he still believed the state should be its own insurer, a policy he adopted three years ago.

In the last three years he has required each department of the state government to pay into an insurance fund the amount it would have spent in premiums. The department had to pay in about $100,000, the same amount the Governor has now used to pay the premiums.

It was reliably reported last night that the second attempt to change the policy had failed. The Governor's advisers in the rural areas, who have not heretofore been in the insurance business, are getting some of the subcontracts. These people, it is understood, are getting only 10 per cent commission, whereas the usual percentage is 20 per cent. It is presumed the remaining 10 per cent stays with the person who obtained the main contract.

Insurance Friends Few.

Most insurance men opposed Talmadge in his recent unsuccessful campaign for the United States Senate, their opposition being based on the fact that he originally took the insurance business from them. So when Talmadge got ready to discontinue the insurance he had few friends in this line of business to whom he was indebted. Draper and Oberdorfer were his staunch supporters throughout the summer. The former appeared at Governor Rivers at 11 o'clock on January 12.

Meanwhile, friends of the retiring chief executive continued to hedge their bets for last-minute favors. Although there are two regular clemency days each month, seldom does a day pass without some friend of the Governor appearing to ask for a pardon for a friend or client.

Talmadge has slightly more than two weeks to go. His term will expire with the inauguration of Governor Rivers at 11 o'clock on January 12.

Today the State Highway Board will let for contract about $250,000 worth of road projects, undoubtedly the last of the Talmadge regime. Two of these projects are in Board Chairman W. E. Wilburn's home county of Mason, which with Talmadge's home county of DeKalb, has obtained many big jobs since the Talmadge death-knell was sounded so strongly on September 9.

Boys, Girls Talk Turkey to Rotary About Life Work

Rotary in Atlanta dedicated itself to youth service yesterday. Rotarian Ray Myers, high school principal at Council Bluffs, Iowa, interviewed 17 Atlanta boys and girls about their ambitions in life. Myers, guest for the day, and District Governor J. C. Harris Jr. chose this novel manner of interesting the successful Atlanta business executive in the job of counselors for those just emerging from school. Myers is shown at the table talking to some of the young folks.

CONVOYS ARE ORDERED TO PROTECT NAZI SHIPS was extended through today, although the Bilbao Basques have announced there was "no question" of freeing the ship.

(A Basque representative at Bayonne charged the master of the Palos before the ship was seized by government marine patrols and taken into Bilbao Thursday. Der Fuehrer would not wait until the scheduled January 10 for his return to Berlin.

Because of the funeral of General Hans von Seeckt, it was announced, Hitler is coming back tomorrow. The new charge d'affaires to Spain, General Wilhelm Paupel, came to Berlin for extensive conferences with the general staff—presumably on the Spanish Fascist plan for trained men. He stressed, it was understood, the lack of non-commissioned officers in the insurgent armies.

Neutral diplomatic quarters gained the impression that, prior to the Franco-British pressure on volunteers, Hitler was near abandoning his Spanish venture.

According to this theory, the sudden demand from London and Paris that the volunteers depart, coupled with his determination to stand by his guns.

On the other hand, sources close to the German government are reaching new action in support of the Spanish dictator designate, General Francisco Franco, was planned, rather than the energetic German might talk, or even act, within certain limits.

ISOLATION OF SPAIN PLANNED BY BRITAIN

LONDON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Official Britain considered tonight a plan for a six-power naval patrol to isolate the Spanish coast.

Such a patrol is to be maintained by England, France, Germany, Italy, Portugal and Russia—would replace all present neutrality efforts and "freely keep volunteers and arms" off the peninsula, informed sources said.

Warships of the patrol would exchange officers to guarantee impartiality to their charge d'affaires.

So far only Russia has replied to Anglo-French protests against sending volunteers to Spain, officials disclosed. Germany, Portugal and Italy sent no replies.

British observers said that after months of wrangling, proposals to be for the European neutrality committee to send hundreds of neutral observers to Spain to check land and sea imports had come to nothing.

Such a patrol is to be maintained by England, France, Germany, Italy, Portugal and Russia—would replace all present neutrality efforts and "freely keep volunteers and arms" off the peninsula, informed sources said.

FRANCE AND BRITAIN TO OPPOSE 'STALLING'

PARIS, Dec. 28.—(AP)—France and Great Britain will accept no "stalling" by Adolf Hitler on his demand for strict German nonintervention in Spain, foreign office officials said today.

Officials said it was an answer to the Franco-British note on German volunteer enlistments in Fascist Spain were coming "in a very few days," the two nations will consult to "determine steps" necessary to assure Germany's neutrality.

An editorial in Le Temps insisted any delay in Germany's answer would "definitely ruin" the nonintervention policy of all nations.

The French press generally expressed the opinion Der Fuehrer was delaying his reply to view the outcome of the latest insurgent offensive at Madrid.

The government announced it would send Jean Barbier, counselor of the French embassy at Madrid, to Valencia to face the charge d'affaires.

A consul will remain at Madrid to represent the French government. Barbier has been at St. Jean De Luz since the outbreak of the Spanish civil war.

GLENCOE, Argyllshire, Scotland, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The body of William Christie, which had dangled head down from a rope near the peak of a 3,000-foot mountain for more than 24 hours, was recovered today by five mountain climbers.

Rotary Hears Youth Tell Dreams As Boys and Girl Map Life Work

Leader in Youth Service Movement Stages Impressive Interviews With Young People at Club Luncheon; Local Committee To Continue Work.

By LAMAR Q. BAILL.

Several boys and girls fighting for a break in life sat down yesterday and poured out their hearts and their problems to 200 Atlanta business executives.

The theme was: "How can I go about getting a chance to do what I want to do in life?"

What it was all over one of the boys and one of the girls had landed the jobs right there on the spot and the 15 stepped hopefully off, assured that somewhere in Atlanta someone is interested in the questions troubling their inexperienced minds and that someone will do something to help them.

The boys and girls are students at the Atlanta Opportunity school. The executives are members of the Atlanta Rotary Club, best equipped of all Atlantas to carry through the new idea launched yesterday. The conference was staged at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotarians at the Capital City Club.

Not Promised Jobs.

None of the boys or girls came to the meeting looking for a job. They were not promised they would get jobs. They were brought before the Rotarians so the youth of Atlanta could bring home to the successful adult population of the city just what problems harass the perplexed minds of those who are emerging from school into the stream of life, gazing hopelessly at the swift currents that threaten to overwhelm them before they have a chance to strike out definitely in their chosen direction.

The boys and girls took their hair down and talked turkey. The businessmen sat back and listened. It was unique. Many of those men who have made their way in the world were joined into a recollection of those troublesome days, years ago, when life seemed to them the same dizzy, hopeless whirlwind it seems to these boys and girls today.

It was all planned and worked out successfully by District Governor of Rotary Joel Chandler Harris Jr., and his guest for the day, Rotarian Ray Myers, principal of a high school at Council Bluffs, Iowa, and leader in youth service movements being launched among the Rotary clubs of the nation.

Displayed Rare Skill.

Harris supplied the boys and girls and the businessmen. Then he and his host, Evelyn Harris, president of Atlanta Rotary, retired to the rear of the dining room and turned the meeting over to Professor Myers, who displayed rare skill as a master of crowd control or the art of whatever it is that leads an audience or witnesses successfully.

The boys and girls sat at the main table atop the dining room. On the day, the Rotarians were scattered about the room, while Professor Myers stalked about the floor among the Rotarians, listening to the honor guests to pour out their hearts.

He asked two questions of each boy and girl: "When you have nothing to do, what do you do to occupy your time?"

And, when each had answered, he asked them: "If some good fairy were to tell you tomorrow that all obstacles have been swept from your path and the way is clear for you to pursue your chosen ambition to your heart's content, what would you want to do?"

They told him.

Claude wanted to be an aviator. Pauline wanted to be a nurse. Margaret wanted to go West Point. Pingou wanted to do medical research; Ken wanted to be a business executive; Harold wanted to be a forest ranger; Mary wanted to teach kindergarten; Mary Louise loves antiques and wanted to be an antique dealer.

They will be the guides and counselors of the youth of Atlanta and the city of Atlanta. They will be the guides and counselors of the youth of Atlanta and the city of Atlanta. They will be the guides and counselors of the youth of Atlanta and the city of Atlanta.

When the get-together was over, Myers told how this could be done regularly as a sustained youth service movement on the part of Rotarians. Joel Harris bounced up:

"Those who would be willing to serve as a sustained youth service committee hold up your hands."

A score of hands went up.

Harris called off the names, the secretary jotted them down and Rotary in Atlanta is launched on a new movement.

PREFERENTIAL HIRING PRECIPITATES 'CRISIS' IN MARITIME STRIKE

Negotiations Broken Off, McGrawy Informs Secretary Perkins.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The question of preferential hiring for union members—which deadlocked previous maritime strike, peace conference—wrecked renewed negotiations today between shipowners and licensed deck officers, and precipitated what one federal official said was a "crisis."

T. G. Plant, chairman of the shipowners' committee, reiterated a previous stand that employers would not surrender their full rights in selecting deck officers.

Assistant Labor Secretary Edward P. McGrawy informed Secretary Perkins in Washington that negotiations had been broken off.

"This is the first real crisis since the strike began," he said.

In response to a question, Plant replied that the shipowners' committee, official of the licensed engine room employees, that shipowners would take the same stand on preferential hiring with regard to that group. As a result, a waiting meeting tentatively set for tomorrow was cancelled.

It was understood the Masters, Mates and Pilots' organization had for some time been pressing for union members would be given preference in selection of third and fourth mates, leaving choice of masters, chief officers, first and second mates to the employers.

Voting by coast sailors and firemen on tentative settlement plans awaited action by negotiators in reaching agreement on the "solid front" stand of the organized workers.

Plant and McGrawy were expected to discuss the union's desire to have development of the south through decentralization of industry in congested metropolitan areas were revealed here today by former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury L. W. (Chip) Robert, Atlanta.

Mr. Robert, the head of the largest industrial engineering concern in the south and the present secretary of the Democratic national committee, said the campaign will be largely educational and will be launched in January. Associated with him in the program will be a number of business leaders of his section.

"The concentration of industries in large centers of population in the east has long been recognized by economists of the Roosevelt administration as a prime factor in our unemployment problem and other problems," said the Atlanta man. "If we are to restore the national balance, we must decentralize industry."

"The south, because of its climate and raw materials, lends itself more than any other section to such a decentralization program. We shall endeavor to bring this home to industrial leaders of the country."

Mr. Robert joined his announcement of the southern industrial campaign plans with a positive denial of published reports that he has resigned his office as secretary of the national Democratic committee. While he plans to spend a considerable part of his time in Atlanta in connection with the new program, he said he had no intention of relinquishing the party post. Offices will be maintained both here and in New York, in addition to Atlanta.

Accompanied by Mrs. Robert, former Governor and Mrs. O. Max Gardner, of North Carolina, he plans to leave New York today on a three-week cruise in Caribbean waters. Sailing on the Empress of Britain, they will visit Cuba, Jamaica and Venezuela, returning by way of Miami, where they will be the guests for a few days of Frank B. Shuts, publisher of the Miami Herald, and Mrs. Shuts and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Stutts, of Philadelphia, who are spending the winter in Florida.

Secretary Robert said he and Mrs. Robert expected to return to Atlanta in time for the inauguration January 12 of Governor-elect E. D. Rivers.

As the head of Robert & Co., of Atlanta, Mr. Robert has been actively engaged in industrial promotion work in the south for a number of years. Through his efforts many large manufacturing companies have established units in the southeast, notably textiles and rayon. With the expansion program now about to be undertaken by industry in view of advanced recovery strides, he sees the prospects for industry going forward with the decentralization movement which was just getting definitely under way when the depression stopped everything.

More than once President Roosevelt has voiced a keen interest in industrial decentralization programs and is known to feel that something of the kind must be undertaken systematically if we are to avoid the full shock of future depressions.

STRIKE STOPS WORK AT BIG FISHER PLANT

7,000 Workers in Cleveland Factory Affected by 'Sit Down' Action.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Union men staged a "sit down" strike today at the Fisher Body plant, stopping work of 7,000 workers in the plant.

The investigation is to begin early in January, may also include investigation of exchange rates," he added.

"I haven't talked with the other commissioners about it, but it's my opinion that the telephone company in Tennessee either should eliminate all extra charges for 'French' or hand-set telephones, or fix a maximum amount to be paid by subscribers," the new commissioner said.

Jourolmon added that Tennessee is one of only nine states that permits a continuous monthly charge for the hand-set instruments.

Lincoln R. Scafe, general manager of the company, said: "If we are going to step in and help us out by making the first move, I am ready and waiting for a call from the union."

Approximately 7,000 employees are affected by the strike. Union headquarters estimated 1,000 sit-down strikers remained in the plant tonight. The company estimated the number at from 150 to 200. Picket lines were on duty.

Both sides indicated willingness to negotiate.

The plant had operated at capacity of about 27,000 auto bodies per week, working three shifts.

COURT DISMISSES SUIT AGAINST AIMEE'S AIDE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Superior Judge Robert W. Kenny today dismissed Attorney William Andrews' $50,000 conspiracy suit against Rhea Crawford Sprilado and Jacob Moidel, her attorney, in which Andrews charged they had conspired to bring about the dismissal of Angelus Temple.

Andrews recently was retained by Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor, as counsel for the temple.

Drive to Develop South's Industry Is Formulated by 'Chip' Robert

Decentralization of Business in Congested Metropolitan Areas Planned by Atlantans. Denies He'll Quit as Democratic Secretary.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Plans for carrying on a nationwide campaign looking toward the industrial development of the south through decentralization of industry in congested metropolitan areas were revealed here today by former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury L. W. (Chip) Robert, Atlanta.

TENNESSEE TO LAUNCH TELEPHONE RATE PROBE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Leon Jourolmon Jr., of Knoxville, newly elected member of the Tennessee Railroad and Public Utilities Commission, announced today that the commission "is planning a state-wide investigation of intra-state long distance telephone rates."

The investigation is to begin early in January, may also include investigation of exchange rates," he added.

GERMAN NAVY OFFICER SEEKS SHIP'S RELEASE ON ARRIVAL AT BILBAO

Nazi Officer Confers With Basque Council; Does Not Visit Palos.

MADRID, Tuesday, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The captain of a German 6,000-ton cruiser landed at Bilbao, on the northwestern Spanish coast early today and conferred with Loyalist officers who seized the Nazi German merchant ship, Palos.

The German officer was taken to the government house, along the Nervion river and went into conference with members of the Basque defense council.

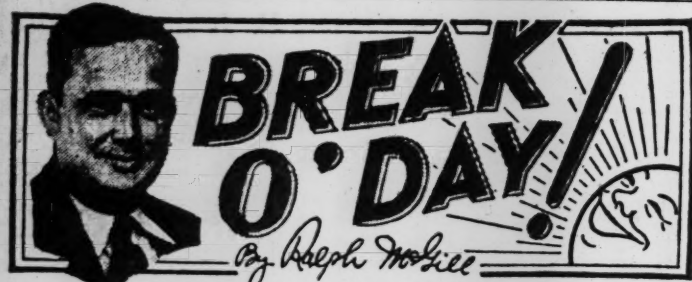

The name of the warship from which he landed was unveiled in dispatches received in Madrid.

After the conference the captain returned to the cruiser, lying off Bilbao harbor.

He did not, so far as could be ascertained, visit the Palos, which is under guard in the harbor after being run down and seized by a Loyalist patrol boat.

It was believed here that the Basque government would permit the Palos to depart with the three German members

Manager Moore Lists Training Camp as Only Cracker Need

This Is the Story of the Coughing Bird Dog---and His Cure

He was getting a hair trim.
 "How was Christmas?" asked the barber.
 "Pretty fair. They're about all alike. I went hunting."
 "Get anything?"
 "You ought to see the wrist watch I got," spoke up the manicurist, who was busy with the hunter's nails.
 "I'm asking about birds," said the barber, wistfully.
 "Oh," said the manicurist.
 "Got a few," said the man who was getting his hair cut.
 "Snip. Snip. Snip," went the scissors.
 "I got a great kick out of a dog down there," he said. "Don't cut that hair too high there on the temples."
 "No, I won't. What about the dog?"
 "Fool dog was named Simon. He's about 12 years old and he's a fool about his toddy."
 "A lot of people are," said the manicurist.
 "This is a dog," said the barber, wistfully.
 "Oh," said the manicurist.
 "Yes, sir, this fool dog was a fool about his toddy. We started out that morning and hunted until noon. Had a couple of young dogs working with this old-timer named Simon. And we didn't find a bird. Not a bird!
 "That old dog didn't go far. And cough. Man, he just hung around and coughed. He hunted some but not much. I was disgusted with him."
 "A cough isn't very nice," said the manicurist.
 "Well, we stopped for lunch. And that old dog just stood around looking at us and coughing."

"AT LAST, I ASKED—"

"So, at last I asked this fellow. I just asked, 'What's the matter with that fool dog?'"
 "The fellow he looked a little embarrassed and said, 'Well, to tell the truth he wants a little toddy.'
 "I told him I didn't believe it and he asked me if I minded giving him one. I told him to go ahead. So, he said he would have given him one earlier in the morning but he didn't know if I objected to it.
 "So, he took a small bottle out of his pocket and he poured about an ounce into it and the old dog walked right up there. This fellow poured that drink right down his throat."
 "His throat or the dog's throat?" asked the manicurist.
 "Shut up," said the barber.
 "Well, sir," said the man getting his hair cut, "the old dog didn't spill a drop. He took it right down."
 "I guess that's what you'd call a lucky dog," said the manicurist.
 The barber glared.
 "What did he do then?" asked the barber.
 "Well, sir," said the hunter, "this old dog just walked over and pawed at the leaves a few minutes. And then he just trotted off about 100 yards and went on point."
 "I was plumb disgusted with that dog," he said. "I'd hunted that section just a half hour before. I'd been all through it and so had the young dogs. But there he was and the young dogs had gone over and honored the point."

"THERE CAN'T BE ANY BIRDS—"

"I was pretty disgusted and I turned to this fellow and said, 'Look at that fool dog. He's pointed over there where we've been. There can't be any birds there.'
 "Well," said this fellow I was hunting with, 'If he has lied to me now it's the first time. Let's go over there and see.'
 "So, we went over there. And just as we got in behind the young dogs honoring the point, one of them broke and flushed up the birds. I got two of them with one shot. And this old bird dog trotted out and retrieved them, one after another.
 "We went on and hunted all the rest of the afternoon and that old dog didn't cough a single time. He found four more coveys and handled them all just right."
 The shine boy was popping his rag over the customer's shoe in the next chair.
 "Unh, unh," he said. "All 'at dog got to do is cough."
 "I asked about it," said the customer, "and this fellow said when the dog was young he had been so good he had been worked so hard his wind was broken. And for three or four years he's had this cough. And all he needs is just about an ounce per day. It's for medicinal purposes only. But I never saw a dog that took the stuff before."
 "Every dog has his day," said the manicurist.
 The barber looked pained.

"Now, don't you go thinking that's one of those dog yarns you write," said the customer, turning to the next chair where your old partner was getting a hair trim. "This is the truth and if you will go down there with me I'll show you the dog and you can see him cure his cough."
 I looked as pained as the barber.

The shine boy developed a terrific coughing attack.
 "What is the matter with you?" asked the barber.
 "Just thinkin' about 'at ole dog coughin' and gettin' some cough medicine," he said.
 "But you are no bird dog," said the manicurist.
 "At's why my cough don't never get cured, I guess," said the shine boy. And went on popping his rag across the shoes.

Young Catchers in Demand--Hartnett

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—The American boy dreaming of major league baseball fame should ask his old man to buy him a big mitt and a mask.
 Charles Leo (Gaby) Hartnett, the Chicago Cubs' great catcher, who has been tops at fielding his position in the National league for three seasons, almost trampled each other to death in the rush when a prospect is reported.
 "I know of only three outstanding kid catchers in our league," he said, pulling away at the last nickel's worth of a quarter cigar. "And the Cubs have two of them, Ken O'Dea and Walter Stephenson. Everyone said this Arnold Owen the Cardinals are bringing up from Columbus is a real comer."
 "Maybe kids these days don't care to work as hard at baseball as a catcher has to," he said, "or maybe they are getting smarter than they used to be."
 Hartnett figures to catch 100 or more games for the eighth consecutive season and the eleventh of his major league career, in 1937.

 "I can't catch more than 75 games next season," he laughed, "but unless I get hurt or someone else gets pretty hot, I'll be good for more than 100. I'm in good shape now—weigh about 215 pounds, the same as I did last summer, so all I'll have to do is sharpen up the eye for those base hits."
 Hartnett declined to make a prediction on the National league race, but said Leroy Parnelle, obtained with Rip Collins from the Cardinals in exchange for Lonnie Warneke, would have to win 15 games to fill the latter's place on the Cub pitching staff.
 He exercises every day, playing a lot of handball, but giving a minimum of running.
 "That running's no good for me," he laughed. "No matter how much I run, I don't get any faster."

40,800 Will See L.S.U.-Santa Clara Game

TIGERS FAVORED TO BEAT BRONCS AT NEW ORLEANS

Both Squads in Top Form for Sugar Bowl Contest.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28. (UP)—Louisiana State's gridiron juggernaut was slightly favored over Santa Clara tonight as hundreds of persons poured into town for the New Year's Sugar Bowl game—to find hotel reservations sold out weeks ago.
 Rabid local supporters of the unbeaten Bayou Bengals from Baton Rouge, two years Southeastern conference champions, were giving up to three touchdowns. But most experts disregarded Santa Clara's defeat by Texas Christian December 12 and said it was a toss-up.
 Santa Clara fans will arrive by special train from San Francisco Tuesday, to be met by a noisy reception. The Broncos are to work out at Rice, in Houston, and will come through here Thursday en route to St. Stanislaus College, at Bay St. Louis, Miss., 60 miles from here. They will remain until game day.
 The third annual Sugar Bowl title, many believe, will bring together the nation's most colorful teams, and L. S. U. is prepared to lay claim to the national grid supremacy if it wins the huge, glittered silver cup that will be given the victor.
 Both squads are in top form. Santa Clara's athletic director, Sam Dunne, said the Broncos needed only to stretch their legs from the long trip. But Dunne feared the Tigers would be too much for his team.
 Certainly the most colorful, as well as largest, sports gathering in New Orleans history will see the game. L. S. U. is bringing its 2,500 uniformed cadets and 900-nice band for a spectacular drill. When the Tigers and Broncos take the field at 1:30 p. m. New Year's, 40,800 fans will jam the stadium and temporary stands for a record attendance in the Tulane bowl. All seats have been sold in advance, and thousands were kept away.

Dukes Arrive For Miami Battle.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 28. (AP)—Coach John (Little Clipper) Smith and his Duquesne footballers, arriving tonight for the Orange Bowl encounter with Mississippi State, dripped gloom.
 "We'll be lucky to hold Mississippi State to one or two touchdowns," moaned Smith as he revealed Boyd Brumbaugh, Duquesne's running star, may not play in the New Year's Day intersectional game.
 Although he made the trip south, Brumbaugh is suffering from tonsillitis. A brother-in-law of the one-time University of Florida star, Brumbaugh spent several days in a hospital before leaving Pittsburgh.
 "I don't doubt he looks like he has much of a chance," said Smith. "The weather and everything else seems to be to Mississippi State's advantage."

Maroons Leave For Miami Today.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Dec. 28. (AP)—The Maroons of Mississippi State College completed their home training schedule today and will tomorrow will move toward Miami for their New Year's Day game with Duquesne.
 A hard scrimmage was the Maroons' last game on Scott field, but their take-up training chores in Birmingham's Legion field late tomorrow, and then retrain for Miami. Coach Ralph Sasse says the Maroons will work out at Miami Wednesday and Thursday.
 Taking a squad of 32 players, Major Sasse is prepared to hurl full strength against the Duke line. He pronounced his men in fine physical condition.

Auburn Gridmen Reach Havana.

HAVANA, Dec. 28. (AP)—Led by Head Coach Jack Menzies, Auburn's football team arrived on the steamer Cuba today for its New Year's Day game with Villanova.
 Menzies said every one of the 20 players was in top condition and predicted a close game. He ordered a limbering-up drill for late this afternoon.
 Villanova's squad arrived Sunday and already has been sent through several hard drills.

BULLDOGS LOSE JIMMY MOORE

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 28. (AP)—Jimmy Moore, letterman and brother of the former Georgia ace, is lost for the season at the University of Georgia basketball squad, Coach Rex Enright said today.
 The stellar forward was due to have undergone a knee operation today. Eleven members of the squad have been invited to resume practice Thursday. The schedule opens with the University of Chattanooga at Athens on January 8 and 9.
 Athletic director H. J. Sticeman, member of the national football rules committee, left Sunday to attend the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in New York city.

Gillespie Advances In Boys' Net Meet

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Two New York boys furnished most of the excitement in the national junior and boys' tennis championships today as the Seventh Regiment armory today as the seeded stars moved through the second round without an upset.
 Robert A. Lov, of New York, who was seeded tenth among the juniors, barely escaped defeat at the hands of an old rival, Peter Lauck, a Princeton student from Montclair, N. J. Lov dropped the first set and barely pulled out the second but finally rallied to win 4-6, 11-9, 6-4.
 The leading southern entry, Billy Gillespie of Atlanta, easily advanced at the expense of Christian Gide, New York, 6-0, 6-2.

Old Lou May Have to Tame These Bucking Broncos Friday

Norm Finney, end, and Chuck Pavelko, fullback, are two of Santa Clara's ornist bucking Broncos. Old Lou may have a time taming them Friday at New Orleans. Pavelko,

'tis said, is a line-wrecking bucking Bronco. The unbeaten, once-tied Tigers, will enter the game as favorites over the once-beaten Broncos.

PASADENA FANS GREET HUSKIES

Football-Hungry City Receives Pre-Game Enthusiasm Over Drill.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 28. (AP)—Pasadena got its first real taste of the approaching Rose Bowl football classic today when the Huskies and Huskies practiced here preparing for the struggle with Pittsburgh New Year's Day.
 This city, a little hungry for pre-game enthusiasm since both Pitt and Washington elected to train elsewhere last week, greeted the boys from the northwest with wide-open arms.
 Tournament of Roses officials applied finishing touches to game details, preparing to receive the biggest crowd in Rose Bowl history. With the addition of 3,304 bleacher seats, already bought and paid for, a total of 87,196 fans will witness the 22nd consecutive game in the bowl.
 As Pitt added another workout to its intensive schedule at nearby San Bernardino, Coach Jimmy Phelan led his Huskies into Brookside park here for practice.
 Rain fell last night, and continued to drizzle today.
 "We'll play football whether it rains or not," said Phelan. "Of course we'd like to have some sunshine for the next couple of days, because we need to 'put the lug' on a little more."
 Coach Jack Sutherland had the same weather worry at San Bernardino, but was apparently undisturbed. His players appeared in great shape after last week's arduous work, and will come into Pasadena Thursday, unless plans are shifted.
 Phelan mixed up his backfield today, using Jimmy Cain, Merle Miller, Chuck Newton and Jimmy Johnston in one group, and "By" Haines, Elmer Logg, Ed Nowogroski and Fritz Wasikowicz in the other. The latter set was not at the starting call, but it's a cinch Cain will see service with running mate Haines, before the game is many minutes old.

Kid Clay Seeking Anderson's Job As Wolfpack Coach

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 28. (AP)—Pat Miller, who served as head coach at Wake Forest from 1927 to 1930 and who now is in the hotel business at Dallas, Texas, is an applicant for head football coach at North Carolina State College.
 Colonel John W. Harrelson, dean of administration at State, said seven men had applied for Hearty W. (Hunk) Anderson's position as head football mentor at the college and that three others had been requested jobs as assistant coaches.
 J. O. (Dell) Morgan, assistant football coach at Auburn, also has applied for the head mentor position, Harrelson said. Others are R. A. (Kid) Clay, former assistant coach at Georgia Tech; B. E. (Mulle) Le-noir, head coach and athletic director at Bluefield College, Bluefield, W. Va.; Dr. Bob Warren, freshman coach at State; Billy Laval, head coach at Emory and Henry, Emory, Va.; and Dick Gurley, former State.

Jacket Five May Lose A Few Early Contests

Extended Football Season and No Practice Over Holidays Cause Late Start at Flats.

By Jack Troy.
 Roy Mundorff's Georgia Tech basketball team may lose a few early season games it is supposed to win.
 There is plenty of reason for believing material at the Flats to be as good as will be found in the Southeastern conference.
 But where the rub comes is that several of the team's mainstays will not begin practice until next Monday.
 Coach Mundorff originally had planned to keep the squad intact over the holidays. But, with the football season extended until after Christmas, Mundorff said, "I haven't the heart to do it."
 So Tech's basketballers, promising though the material be, may get off to a slow start. And they may lose some early season games they ordinarily would be supposed to win.

STARTING LATE.

Fletcher Sims, Ed Jones, Bill Jordan, Lawrence Hays and Junior Anderson, a sophomore prospect, will start practice with the squad Monday.
 A week off probably did them more good than harm, however. Football season was a long grind at the Flats. On the other hand, the opening game of the season which finds Mercer as the opponent on Saturday night a week, comes too early for the football players to really get accustomed to the change of playing on hardwood with a round ball and in a game where running with the ball brings loss of same.
 It may be, too, that Lawrence Hays will not see much service with the Jacket cagers inasmuch as a football knee prevented him from playing against California. Hays' knee will be shifted.
 Phelan mixed up his backfield today, using Jimmy Cain, Merle Miller, Chuck Newton and Jimmy Johnston in one group, and "By" Haines, Elmer Logg, Ed Nowogroski and Fritz Wasikowicz in the other. The latter set was not at the starting call, but it's a cinch Cain will see service with running mate Haines, before the game is many minutes old.

SAKE OF TEAMWORK.

For the sake of teamwork, Coach Mundorff probably will use in some of the early games a lineup somewhat new to Jacket followers in a couple of positions.
 For instance, Joe Ebdon, a sophomore, might pair with Burtz Boulware at guards, and Sophomore Doyle Butler might team with Bounding Ben Jones at forwards. Ben Johnston will be the regular center. Whack Hyder has had considerable experience and might work with Boulware instead of Ebdon.
 At any rate, Tech will not be in a position to show the strongest five in the early games.
 This does not mean the Jackets will not show plenty of class, because all the good material is not included in the group of boys who have just finished football.
 THREE ACES.
 Ben Jones is the ace forward; Ben Johnston is the regular center, and

Value of Football to Education Cited

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—College football went to its annual clinic today, the 11th annual sportsmanship brotherhood.
 Ramifications, such as professionalism, betting and conduct of spectators came in for their usual criticism, but the gridiron sport likewise was pictured as having a definite part in every educational program.
 Dr. Robert C. Claphier, president of Rutgers University, traced the growth of football since its inception in 1869 when teams of 25 players each from Princeton and Rutgers met at New Brunswick, N. J.

EASTERN ELEVEN PRAISED BY KERR

Colgate Mentor Says Larry Kelley Not at All Overrated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Cautious Andy Kerr, who would have been a "perfect" from the football dictionary, almost went into superlatives today over his eastern football charges.
 The little Colgate mentor, who with Dick Hanley is training 22 eastern collegians for the annual East-West charity game here New Year's Day, commented:
 "They are all great players. I wouldn't attempt to single one out. However, I will say that Larry Kelley, Yale end, is not over-rated despite his enormous amount of publicity."

Officials Named For Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28. (AP)—A full staff of officials was named today by the Midwinter Sports Association for the third annual Sugar Bowl football game between Louisiana State University and Santa Clara New Year's Day.
 Alvin Bell, Little Rock, a Southwest conference official, will referee. Lee Tolley, Cincinnati, will be the line judge. The Eastern conference, was named head linesman: Tom Louttit, Portland, umpire, and Louis "Dutch" Conlin, San Francisco, field judge. Louttit and Conlin both worked Pacific Coast conference games.
 President Joseph M. Cousins, of the Midwinter Sports Association, said the officials were selected by Coach Bernie Moore, of L. S. U., and Buck Shaw, of Santa Clara.

Boulware is as fine a guard as the variety five can show.

But, until the late comers have had time to work in again, there will be some ragged play. By the time the Jackets head east to play Pennsylvania and some New York team, if Coach Mundorff can arrange a second game there ought to be some evidence of smoothness.
 The Jackets may lose in the east, on the other hand, because of a late start. Penn has been practicing for some weeks. It makes a big difference and especially so when it is considered that eastern basketball, perhaps, is a few jumps ahead of the southern brand anyway.
 With the lone exception of Auburn, Tech's other southern foes also will have a decided jump in the early practice.

Owens Is Anxious To Test His Speed Against Greyhound

HAVANA, Dec. 28. (AP)—Ice skaters and greyhounds will serve as competition for Jesse Owens during a forthcoming tour of Atlantic states, Marty Rorkins, his New York manager, announced tonight.
 Owens, Cleveland, Ohio, negro, who won three individual Olympic championships at Berlin, opened his professional foot racing career here by beating a horse in a handicap race. The colored star believes he can conquer most members of the animal kingdom in short races.
 Arrangements for the mixed competitions will be made in New York next week, Rorkins said.
 Rorkins protested the refusal of the Amateur Athletic Union, in New York, to approve an exhibition race between Owens and Conrado Rodriguez, Cuban and Central American sprint champion.
 Owens today definitely agreed to give a broad jump exhibition between halves of the Auburn-Villanova football game on New Year's Day.

PRESENT CLUB IS GOOD ENOUGH, SKIPPER SAYS

McQuaig Counted Upon for Outfield; Hutcherson Seen for Utility.

By Jack Troy.

The present Cracker team looks fully as good as the two previous clubs he has taken to camp, Manager Eddie Moore declared yesterday.
 "The winter deals have made us a real contender again," he asserted. "So far as I can see, we don't need a thing—except a training camp."
 First opportunity to talk with Manager Moore since purchase of Emil (Dutch) Leonard and Emil Mailho and the securing on option of Hugh Luby, sensational second baseman from the Western league, was presented yesterday morning when he stopped to visit President Earl Mann before returning to Sarasota for the remainder of the winter. Moore and his wife spent the Christmas holidays at Buford.
 Manager Moore was rather well satisfied with the club as it stood following the minor league deal. At that time, he had in mind the impending deals with Philadelphia for Mailho and Luby.

SEVEN PITCHERS.

When Moore left the meeting at Montreal, the Crackers already had made deals for Pitchers Bill Beckman, John Michaels, a left-hander, and Louis Glavin.
 President Earl Mann was to stop off at Philadelphia and arrange the deals for Mailho and Luby.
 Purchase of Leonard also was in the making. But the deal was contingent on the Cardinals asking waivers first. So there was some question as to whether the Crackers could get their league-leading hurler back.
 Waivers were asked and there were no takers. So the Crackers promptly got Dutch Leonard, who was 18 and lost 3. He appeared in only 22 games. He sported the best earned-run average in the league.

McQuaig is the best bet at the present time.

"I don't think it necessary for me to say what I think of the various departments, such as pitching, catching, infield and outfield," Moore said. "I feel we don't need a thing."
 Moore is banking mainly on Gerald McQuaig, rookie, to come through in the outfield. Red Pittman is another good prospect. But Moore believes McQuaig is the best bet at the present time.
 "I like his speed, fielding and hitting," Moore said. "He has had trouble with his eyes but I think that is all cleared up now. That McQuaig runs like a deer. He ought to make us a fine outfielder." (The Crackers have Mailho for left and Marshall Mauldin for center.)
 McQuaig has been giving his eyes a thorough teasing in winter baseball. He has been on a tour of Puerto Rico with an all-star baseball outfit. According to word received here, McQuaig is now playing good baseball in a hospital for long period suffering from a lung ailment.

HUTCH IS GOOD MAN.

Hutcherson was weak in the season. He should report to camp in sound physical condition this year.
 "Hutch is a good man to have around," Moore said. "He's still a threat at the plate. And he can move around when he is well."

Big Joe is wintering at Denton, Texas.

"I'll be back just before we leave for spring training," Manager Moore said yesterday. "I don't know where we'll go. Earl has six or seven places in mind. I don't know where he'll go. But there's a baseball field and good weather there."
 Panama City, Fla., appears to be the probable winter training camp. The big crowd roared their approval when he landed at the hotel. He can move around when he is well."

JORDAN DEFEATS ROSSI FOR TITLE

"Tarzan" Ben Jordan regained his wrestling crown last night at the Spring Street arena when he defeated Count Petro Rossi in a match with the referee awarded the decision to Jordan.
 Jordan has been in training in Miami, Fla., and just recently wired the promoter a challenge for a match with Count Rossi. The latter refused to recognize the challenge until forced to. The Italian states he will leave for Boston Sunday.
 Doe Poo the Texas ranger, defeated Chin Lee, Chinese jiu-jitsu star, in the semi-final match.
 Farmer Mack, the French Canadian, won at 10-0. Tony Palmo, Italian, in their one-fall match. He did everything but hit Tony with a ring post.

Coca-Cola Pinmen Vie This Afternoon

The sixteen-team Coca-Cola league will be one of the few leagues to be scheduled this week at the downtown Flats. This team will bowl at 5 o'clock this afternoon, as usual, so that their schedule may be completed at the regular time.

Some of the bowlers who will be active with this group this afternoon are J. O. Hightower, W. T. Connerat, Myrtle Hamilton, Eleanor Bracewell, A. R. Carver, J. M. McDonald, Hilda Pearson, Gladys Bridges, S. C. Foster, H. E. Smith, Jessie Sims, Nancy Bell, Robert Harrell, R. S. Walker Jr., Eunice Young, Mrs. Kilpatrick, Dorsey Carlow, Elizabeth Arnold, Jimmie Steele, Charlie Stewart Jr., Rosalie Troncelli, Anne Taylor, Warren Drummond Jr., William Crowell, Lydia Hollinshead, Geraldine Chapman, Hoy Gibson, William Felton, Frances Farmer, Marguerite Newton, Paul Hardin, William Churchill, Mary Nash, Ina Good, Harold Sharp, Abe Butler, Rosaline Lunceford, Lucille Uphaw, Marcus Bryant, Joe Fine, Dorothy Adams, Virginia Sutton, Ray Lawler, E. Grant, Sutter Clash Today

BITSY CAPTURES OPENING MATCH; BOBBITT BEATEN

'Mighty Atom' Downs Tulane Netman in Sugar Bowl Meet.

By Kenneth Gregory.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Holiday visitors gathered in New Orleans for the winter festival, featuring the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl game between the gridiron machines of Santa Clara and Louisiana State, were treated to spectacular matches today in the opening round of the annual tennis tournament.

While the 16 net stars assembled battled for places in the quarter-finals, the evening program of the second day's round of athletics was set aside for boxing between amateur stars representing New Orleans and St. Louis.

The preliminary events leading up to the gridiron clash between Louisiana State's undefeated Tigers and Southeastern conference champions and Santa Clara's once-beaten Broncos, ended on Thursday with the finals of the tennis tournament.

BASKETBALL GAME. Another highlight of the festivities sends Tennessee's championship southern basketball team against Arkansas' Southwestern conference title-holders Wednesday night.

In the initial round of tennis competition, seeded stars, including Bryan M. (Bitty) Grant, of Atlanta, favorite to upset the defending champion, young Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., were forced to rally to gain the second round.

Grant, third-ranking performer in the nation and seeded No. 1, had to open up with all his fancy strokes to eliminate the Abrams of New York, Tulane University freshman, 6-3, 6-3.

Hendrix, who won the inaugural tournament last winter by upsetting the veteran ranked star, Vernon Macrum, of Lakeland, Fla., 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

In one of the most interesting combats of the initial play, Ernie Sutter, of New Orleans, national intercollegiate champion from Tulane University, put on a spectacular finish to trounce Wayne Sabina, hard-driving youngster from Portland, Ore., 3-6, 7-5, 6-4, after winning the first set, 6-1.

Sabina took a four-game lead in the round only to succumb as Sutter settled down and produced a series of final placements.

In a closely-played match, Walter Senior of San Francisco, eliminated Russell Bobbitt, young high school star of Atlanta, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

The lanky Californian had little trouble taking the first set, but lost the second, as Bobbitt rallied to win five straight games.

In the third set, Senior broke Bobbitt's service to take the last three games after the count was deadlocked, three-all.

Other results of the first round were: Edward Cooke, of Portland, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, defeated Russell Bobbitt, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Martin Buxby, of Lakeland, Fla., defeated Gilbert Hall, of East Orange, N. J., 6-3, 6-4.

Parings for the second round tennis tomorrow:

Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, vs. Ernie Sutter, of New Orleans.

Thomsen Explains How Coaches Can Be Happy

Arkansas Mentor Advises Grid Pilots To Have Teams Throw More Passes.

By Paul Mickelson.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A group of worried college football coaches were swapping alibis and hard luck stories along the sidelines of their big athletic huddle today when Coach Fred Thomsen, the Great Dane of Arkansas, busted in.

"Gentlemen," he interrupted, "I've discovered a sure cure or preventative for the blues—how to be happy though a football coach."

"I can't give it to you," demanded young Hunk Anderson, of North Carolina State, who's had more than his share of woes lately.

"Passes and more passes," said the Great Dane from the Ozarks. "Fill the air with passes. That's what customers and alumni like to see. Passes mean thrills and thrills mean satisfied customers."

"Why," beamed the Great Dane, "we lost two games this year to Texas Christian and L. S. U. but our boys had the customers shouting so loud with their aerial circus that they were all out of breath when the games were over. Watch us next year. We'll really show 'em some passes."

AIR-MINDED COACH. Thomsen, a Danish boy from Minden, Neb., who played end for Nebraska from 1909 through 1921, and then took up coaching, never was much good at flipping the pigskin himself, but he's the most air-minded man in all football, amateur or professional.

The ruddy-faced master mind of the Arkansas Razorbacks confesses he has a repertoire of from 40 to 50 pass combinations and is looking for more. The ruddy-faced master mind of the 1936 campaign, the Razorbacks threw 284 passes, completing 124 for 1,432 yards. That's an average of 28.4 passes per game, with 12.4 completions and 143.2 yards an afternoon. The Green Bay Packers, champs of the National professional football league, were uncanny aerial artists; they didn't complete such a dizzy record.

The greatest passing show staged by the Razorbacks in 1936 was against T. C. U. They threw 42 that afternoon, completing 22 for 284 yards, but lost 18 to 14. At the end of each Razorback forward is a lateral threat. To Against Southern Methodist in '35, recalled Thomsen, the Razorbacks completed six laterals at the end of a forward for a gain of 43 yards.

"I was dizzy at the end of that one," he chuckled. "We was S. M. U. Poole, our end, caught the forward pass and then came around to catch the sixth lateral."

CAUTION BEST RECEIVERS. Basketball players, thinks Thomsen, make the best passers and receivers. Each year, he confesses, he starts training by taking the roll of basketball players who come six feet and upwards at Arkansas.

He rates Jack (Rats) Robbins, of Arkansas, one of the greatest football naturalists in the game. In two campaigns, Robbins not only has thrown forwards with amazing accuracy without being thrown for a loss but has done some great ball totting. In his last season, he lugged the ball 34 times for 1,221 yards. In the mud, he boasts, Dwight (Paddlefoot) Sloan is the greatest of masters.

"Paddlefoot can make a muddy football sing and talk," he laughed. "We played Texas in three inches of mud but Paddlefoot completed nine out of 16 passes."

Thomsen took me up to his hotel room to get the official figures on 1936 Arkansas passing. There I met Mrs. Thomsen, an attractive brunette with a fine sense of humor.

"Ho, forward passes again," she laughed. "Fred is simply wild about them. He wakes up in the middle of the night and awakens me to describe a new pass play. One night he got so excited he began to lateral the alarm clock toward me. But I'm just a football coach's wife, so I get used to that sort of going on."

"What this game needs," said Thomsen, "is more passes and happier coaches."

THE PORT LIGHT

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Tyrus Raymond Cobb.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—He dropped by the other night from his home in Menlo Park, Cal., with Dink Templeton, Pop Warner and Bobby Grayson. His playing weight was around 180, but he is now up around 200, and his hair is just a trifle thinner than it was when I first saw him around 1904. For all that, he still looked to be in good shape—the physical condition a man must know who has lived largely on his legs.

This was the Ty Cobb of 1936. After 24 of the greatest major league baseball years that any ball player ever knew, Ty Cobb is one of the few retired stars of sport who has no future to worry about.

He has all the money anyone needs to live on and he has all the time he wants for his three main diversions—golf, hunting and fishing.

The Biggest Job.

Born in 1886 at Royston, Ga., Ty is now 50 years old. He came up to the big league when he was 19 and hung around for 24 years. I'll tell you why I think he turned in the biggest job that sport has ever seen—including all the others I think, after hearing all the testimony, you'll agree with me.

Ty came along in a period of great hitters. In the big parade there were such rivals as Larry Lajoie, Joe Jackson, Sam Rice, Sam Crawford, Bobby Veach, Elmer Flick, and on and on. The pitchers he had to face included such stars as Addie Joss, Ed Walsh, Walter Johnson, Lou Gehrig, Joe Wood, Bill Bernhard, Nick Altrock, Doc White, Rube Waddell, another long list—yet, from 1907, Ty Cobb led the American league in 12 out of the next 13 years and for these 13 years, against great pitching, his batting average was above .370. He had to set this blazing pace against many of the greatest hitters of the game.

Tris Speaker alone prevented Cobb from making it 13 successive years at the top of the crown. But neither Hornsby nor Wagner ever approached Cobb's mark.

As I remarked before, Cobb lived on a high plane. But there was more than a normal share of brains back of the running. In the course of his career, he stole more bases than any other man in baseball. And when the season was over, Cobb spent his winters traveling from 20 to 30 miles a day over rough terrain, backlogging his setters and pointers.

Cobb spent at least 10 months of every year running bases or chasing nuptials. He lived on his legs.

As a Competitor. Ty Cobb comes close to being the greatest competitor that sport ever knew. I'll give you one example. Years ago I dropped by his hotel to say hello when the Tigers were playing the Yankees. Cobb that morning had a temperature of 102, due largely to a heavy cold.

His two legs were a mass of raw flesh and adhesive tape. You needed a team of mules to look after them. Cobb was on the field that afternoon with three hits and two stolen bases, and he had to hit the dirt on those almost skinless thighs.

Cobb's legs were called rubber legs. He was—when a ball game hung in the balance. "No one will believe me," he said, "but I never went an inch out of the way to cut down a man with my spikes. And I'd cut the heart out of my best friend if he ever tried to block the road. When the right of way belonged to me, I took it—spikes first."

GRID COACHES CITE VALUE OF FOOTBALL

A terrific load upon his players. Relationship between victory and the budget and the importance of financial income also were cited because the continuance of minor sports and intramural athletics depends largely upon football receipts.

The danger in betting, he said, lies in the fact that if through the activity of unscrupulous persons, some day a major football game should be thrown because financial temptation too great had been offered to young men still in their immature years, the blow to American amateur sports would be irreparable.

Football's future depends upon its value as part of the educational program, said Carl Snavely, head coach of Cornell University. Advancing civilization has created an "indefinitely more urgent need for something which in the eyes of youth of all ages, sex and description, will place a premium upon such qualities as courage, determination, loyalty, perseverance and unselfishness."

VALUES TAUGHT. "If these values can be taught on the field of play, what difference does it make if the boy gets a few bruises and spains?" asked Snavely. The greatest need in the field of education today is something that will place a correct evaluation upon the quality of sports in the terms of character and civility.

Dr. Wilbur E. Saunders, headmaster of Peddie Institute, said preparatory schools share the problems of amateur sports and the importance of their services to intercollegiate athletics over a period of 32 years as secretary and treasurer of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

KID CLAY SEEKING ANDERSON'S POST

Kid Clay Coached Baseball at Tech.

Alvin Kid Clay, who is applying for Hunk Anderson's job as football coach at North Carolina State, coached Georgia Tech's baseball team for many years before resigning in the fall of 1930.

Bobby Dodd, jacket backfield mentor, replaced Clay as baseball pilot.

ROMANCE, PREFERRED

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: Arlen Leeds, 21, leaves her Ruxton, Md., home after her father marries a pretty gold-digger only three years her senior. She drives to Ocean City to "cool off," and meets tall, handsome Renny Maynard, a lawyer, but is piqued at his frank, almost brotherly manner. But it is his confidence and when she tells of her infatuated father's marriage he writes to his sister Louise, wife of wealthy Richard Brandon, who is always getting her social engagements muddled. Louise is enthusiastic, saying she will pay Arlen $50 a week as her secretary. Reading to Arlen from Louise's letter, she comes to "Christa is..." He stops and his voice falls flat. At the Brandon's New York penthouse Arlen meets Toby Sanner, at once her ardent admirer. Toby's wealthy and much-admired mother, Fanny, and Elissa Brand, from Elissa she learns Christa, now in Paris, is Renny's wife. They have a little daughter Allison. Arlen goes to a business school. Elissa leaves her rich aunt and uncle, goes to the school, too, gets a $2 room and finds a part-time job. When Toby proposes Arlen, she says she likes him but doesn't love him. Arlen knows she is honestly in love with Renny. Jake McLean, young impetuous playboy, proposes to Christa the day she gets a letter from Fanny telling of Arlen. Three western boys are in love with Christa. Arlen goes to Florida. Arlen takes an apartment with Elissa and gets a job with Rupert Law, newspaper editor. Toby takes Arlen up in his plane. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT XXI

Rupert said to Arlen, "You're in the spotlight. I'm always in the spotlight because I hate it. Gossip will say that Rupert Law brought a gorgeous blonde to a party and will immediately dig into your past."

"My past is unblemished," said Arlen, "except that once I was sent to the principal for pulling a girl's pigtail, once I mistook the clergyman for a salesman, and once the car actually did run out of gas. Will they ask for my autograph, do you suppose?"

"If they ask me, I'll tell them you have a dual personality," said Rupert, taking another cocktail. "One personality makes clever retorts and the other is a worried young woman. I've seen you meditative, my dear Arlen, and you have what is commonly known as a load on your mind. What, more people coming in? And the drinks are getting weaker and there's nothing to eat. Let's go some place else, some place where we can talk if we can fight our way through this mob."

They went to a deserted alcove of a hotel balcony.

"Look here," said Rupert, "I like to help people, particularly beautiful maidens in distress. I understand you, Arlen. You don't like to hurt people because you know what it means to be hurt. You're super-sensitive and there's a streak of the Salvation Army lass in you that makes you like to be needed."

"There's a boy who loves me," she said, "and I have a weak mind to make up my mind whether I'll marry him. He's weak because nothing has ever been done to make him strong. He never saved the best part of the cake until last. For all his jaunty airs, realism terrifies him."

"What did the boat coming to New York have to do with it?" he asked with a cigarette between his lips.

"It brought back the wife of the man I love. That I know, Rupert. I love him."

"And what a laugh people would get if they knew I'd turned out to be a girl!"

ER-UM-HELLO. HONEYBUNCH-I WAS JUST TELLING MOON HE OUGHT TO STAY OUT OF THE FIGHT GAME.

WARNED YOU ABOUT WHAT, WILLIAM?

PERSONALLY I THINK YOU'RE SILLY BUT WHY SHOULD I WARN YOU? NOBODY NEVER WARNED ME!

YEH-BUT THIS ONE'S DIFFERENT!

SO HAVE I!

NAW-GET MARRIED. I'VE ALWAYS ENVIED GUYS WHICH WAS HAPPILY WED.

GO HUNTING?

OH, BOY! LOOK AT TH' MAN-GANG'S GOT FOR FIGHTS—NOW THAT I'M ON TH' ROAD TO EASY STREET I THINK I'LL BUY ME A LICENSE AND—

CHEE, 'SHORTY'—IS SWELL-THE NIFTIEST PENTHOUSE IN TOWN, AND ON TOP O' THE CLASSIEST HOTEL—

WHY NOT? I'M SICK O' LIVIN' IN DUMPS—I LIKE NICE THINGS—WHY SHOULDN'T I HAVE THE BEST?

SURE—BUT SAY—HOW'D YUH EVER MUSCLE INTO SUCH A SWELL JOINT? DO THEY KNOW WHO YOU ARE?

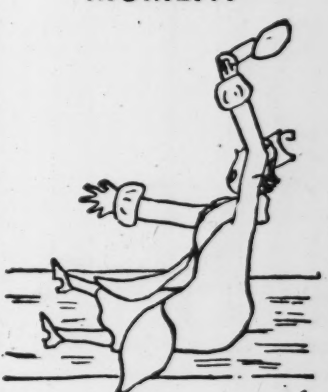

WHADDYUH MEAN? MY MONEYS AS GOOD AS ANN SISSY SOCIETY GUYS, AIN'T IT? I MIND MY OWN BUSINESS AND I'M QUIET—HERE

SURE—I KNOW 'SHORTY'—BUT...

OH, THEY KNOW WHO I AM, ALL RIGHT—THESE HOTEL GUYS AREN'T DOPES—BUT THEY SHOULD GET A STIFF NECK ABOUT IT, IF THE OTHER GUESTS DON'T KICK—

AND MOST O' TH' GUESTS ARE YOKELS FROM OUT O' TOWN WHO WOULDN'T RECOGNIZE TH' STATUE O' LIBERTY EVEN IF IT SPOKE TO 'EM IN TH' LOBBY—WHY, THIS IS TH' BEST HIDE-OUT I EVER HAD—

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

Don't get hysterical when you slip and fall on the ice.

If you want to keep from falling down on icy sidewalks you should (1) remember to wear your rubbers, and (2) stop your rubbing for a likely looking matter so much that it is worth cracking a spine over.

But once you're down, for heaven's sake don't get hysterical. No man likes the idea of picking up a hysterical woman. Keep calm, straighten out your hat, powder your nose, and look across for a likely looking man. When you've spotted him give him a brave little smile. He'll be right over.

If there's no man around you'll probably find that you can get up by yourself. But we certainly wouldn't advise such a display of independence for a likely looking man. (Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution.)

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

CHINESE NEW YEAR CUSTOMS

Firecrackers explode when the Chinese celebrate their New Year! It is an old custom among them, and they carry it out to this day. Last winter I paid a visit to the "Chinatown" in Los Angeles, and saw the remains of New Year's firecrackers lying on the sidewalks, and in the street.

A "dragon dance" at New Year's time in New York's Chinatown.

The Chinese New Year comes during the last ten days of January, or during the first three weeks of February. It is a movable feast, and in that way can be compared with our Easter, though it comes earlier in the year. The date is set "from the first moon after the sun enters the sign of Aquarius."

On New Year's Day the Chinese walk about the streets, and greet those they meet by saying "Kung-hi" or "Sin-hi" which may be translated to mean "I humbly wish you joy" or "May joy be yours!"

That is only part of the celebration. The Chinese also dance and sing and perform, in the streets and elsewhere.

The celebration starts in earnest on the evening before the first day of the year. Then comes noise from the beating of gongs and from firecrackers. Paper lanterns are hung in the streets, and many persons carry such lanterns with them as they walk about. After midnight the Chinese go back to their homes. Then some of them feast and play games until after the rising of the sun.

An old custom among the Chinese is to wear masks at New Year's time. Some masks are small, just large enough to fit a man's face. Others are of giant size, three or four feet high and two or three feet wide. The big ones are used by men who perform in front of crowds.

The "dragon dance" is an important part of the celebration in some places. A rather fearful looking dragon-head mask and a long dragon body are held up by dancing performers, and there is a great deal of noise while the dancing goes on. The dragon is a symbol of the Chinese emperor. Since the coming of the republic in China, efforts have been made to stop the use of dragon and other masks, but the efforts have not met full success. Customs die slowly among the Chinese.

Another Chinese New Year custom is to put up pictures of "door gods" before the entrances to their homes. The old belief was that the gods would guard the family from harm, but we are told that nowadays "only the very ignorant" trust the pictures to do any good.

The affair will be in the nature of a cordial welcome to the future governor and his wife, who are lifelong friends of Mr. and Mrs. Truitt. Receiving with the hosts and honor guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hendrix, Mrs. George F. Longino and Mrs. Edgar S. Center will pour coffee. Miss Elizabeth Truitt and J. H. Longino will receive the guests at the door.

Mrs. D. M. Berry, T. H. Porch, William Cotton, George F. Longino Jr., M. C. Pagett, Misses A. J. Patterson, Mary Louise Palmer and Lella Truitt will assist in entertaining.

The affair will assemble several hundred members of Atlanta and College Park society who will call to greet the future state executive and his wife.

Reynolds-Powell Wedding Plans Are of Wide Social Interest Today

Cordial social interest centers in the announcement of the wedding plans of Miss Mary Reynolds and Henry Russell Powell, of Augusta. The ceremony will be performed by Father Edward T. McGrath at the Sacred Heart rectory on Saturday morning, January 9, at 11:30 o'clock in the presence of the immediate relatives.

Miss Isabel Smith, of Augusta, cousin of the bride-elect, will be maid of honor, and Robert J. Powell, the brother of the groom-elect, will be best man. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Stephens Mitchell, brother and sister of Miss Reynolds, will entertain the bridal party at a breakfast at their Peachtree road residence.

Miss Reynolds and Mr. Powell will be central figures at the dinner party to be given January 7 by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas B. Wright at their home on Andrews drive. Miss Elizabeth Sheenake gives a tea on January 8 at the Piedmont Driving Club in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith will compliment Miss Reynolds and Mr. Powell at a buffet supper on January 8 at their home on Rivers road.

Miss Trotti Feted At Tea-Dance

Miss Betty Trotti, lovely school girl daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Trotti, was central figure at the tea-dance at which her parents were hosts yesterday at their home on Sherwood road, assembling 50 members of the school set.

Assisting the hosts in entertaining were their sister, Miss Nellie Trotti, and Mrs. L. J. Hulse. Miss Marie Mauren served punch from huge bowls surrounded by flaming poinsettias and Christmas foliage.

The living room, dining room, and music room were adorned for the occasion with quantities of miniature Christmas trees, strung with crimson lights. Miss Trotti received her guests

Lee-Roosevelt Auxiliary

Lee-Roosevelt Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, No. 13, presented an entertaining program recently at Base Hospital No. 48, which featured choruses and solos by a well-known choir, Mrs. D. M. Robinson, recreational aide, introduced the president, Mrs. H. Grady Andrews, and the chairman, Mrs. Charles L. Anderson and Mrs. Mel Hood, who extended greetings to the veterans. This auxiliary has been very active in hospital work this year.

Miss Lawton, Fiance Feted at Parties

Miss Cecelia Lawton, charming bride-elect, and her fiance, William Peabody, of New York, whose marriage takes place this evening, were the central figures last evening at the buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anderson. The affair was given after the wedding rehearsal and was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carmichael on Piedmont avenue.

The table in the dining room was covered with a lace cover and was centered with a silver bowl filled with red roses and white narcissi and on either side were silver candelabra holding red burning tapers. A large silver Christmas tree was placed in the living room and was decorated with red and white yuletide ornaments.

The hosts were assisted in entertaining by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reese and included on the guest list were only members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

Mrs. John Duncan entertained at a beautifully appointed luncheon yesterday at her home on Bolling road in compliment to Miss Lawton.

Covers were placed for Miss Lawton, Cecelia Finklea, Louise Brown and Louise Mayes, of Beaufort, S. C.; Virginia Bennett, of Tampa, Fla.; Grace Steele, of Greenville, S. C.; Dorothy Slack, of Bennie Belle Shurt and Mrs. Roy Miller, of Tifton; Ushaw Jones, of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mrs. Ralph Ragan and Mrs. Duncan.

Bacon-Wurst.

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 28.—Miss Elizabeth Bacon and Andrew Wurst were married at a beautiful ceremony on Christmas Day at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bacon in Lakeside. The Rev. J. N. Peacock, pastor of the First Methodist church, and a cousin of the bride, officiated.

Before the ceremony Neely Peacock, accompanied by Miss Eugenia Peacock, sang.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Charles Wurst, of Meigs. She wore a traveling suit of grass-green wool, with which she wore a black satin blouse and black accessories. Her flowers were gardenias.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bacon entertained the wedding guests at a reception. Miss Mary Cowan, of Baconton, and Miss Naomi Harden, of Ashburn, assisted in entertaining. Mrs. Charles H. Krueger, of Atlanta, sister of the bride, kept the bride's book.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wurst will make their home in Montgomery, Ala.

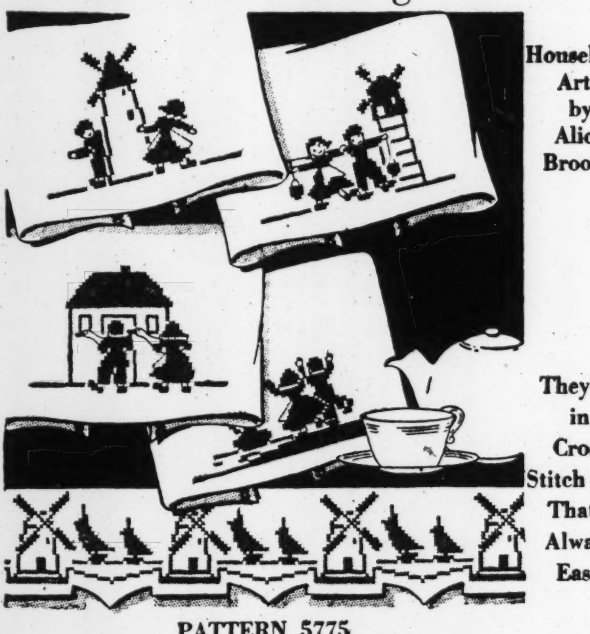

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Krueger, Frank Jenkins and Roy F. Hahn, of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wurst, Charles D. Wurst, Fred Wurst and Miss Mary Wurst, of Meigs; Miss Ada Mae Wurst and Avon Wurst, of Ochochee; Mrs. G. P. Towels And Shelving Go Dutch PATTERN 5775.

Happy Dutch kiddies, from the far-off land of windmills, introduce the latest in kitchen sets—tea towels with shelving or curtain borders to match in eight to the inch crosses! You who love a colorful kitchen will applaud cross-stitch so easy, designs so simple, that they work up swiftly in leisure moments. Do the four towels—the fancy-edged shelving—in bright floss to harmonize with your kitchen color scheme. The gay result is well worth every minute spent! In pattern 5775 you will find a transfer pattern of four motifs averaging 5 1/4 by 8 inches and two border strips 3 1/2 by 20 3/8 inches; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches used; material requirements; and a pattern number.

To obtain this pattern, send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Interesting Georgia Personalities VIA THE ZODIAC

By BERNICE DENTON PIERSON, Foremost American Astrologer.

B. E. THRASHER.

B. E. Thrasher, chief clerk in the office of comptroller-general, was born under the influence of the Zodiacal Virgo, September 9 marking his natal day.

His chart provides an excellent example of the steadfastness, analytical ability, recuperation and knowledge of the sign Virgo.

The planet Saturn rules the part icular part of the sign under which Mr. Thrasher's birthdate comes. This bestows a prudent and careful disposition, persevering and cautious in money matters, one sympathetic and well liked.

The Sun-Moon position in this chart shows one eloquent, convincing and extremely clever of the justice of any line of thought. It indicates one who would go fully into any subject because of thorough mastery of it and himself, bring matters to a successful conclusion. It is the chart of one who possesses keen business sense and capacity for detail.

You can get your complete astrological forecast through The Atlanta Constitution, compiled by Bernice Denton Pierson, one of America's best-known Astrologers.

All you have to do is fill in the coupon below, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, together with 10 cents in coin to cover mailing cost. You will then receive through the mail certain pertinent facts which deal Astrologically with the Sun at the time of your birth, called a Sun-chart, and with this Sun-chart, a series of numbers which will enable you to identify the planetary interpretations, which will be published in The Atlanta Constitution each day, dealing with the influence of a given planet on the day of your birth, according to the rules of Astrology. When you have checked each of your numbers your forecast will be complete.

Miss Faye Wilder Weds Mr. Boggs

ROME, Ga., Dec. 28.—Miss Faye Wilder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilder, and George Marshall Boggs, of Rome, were married at the home of the bride's parents on Christmas Eve.

The program of wedding music was given by Mrs. Frank Wilder, sister of the bride, who also played the accompaniment for Miss Aileen Rush, soloist.

Miss Nan Wilder, sister of the bride, lighted the candles.

The bride entered with the groom, Rev. Daniel Mazy read the marriage service.

The bride was beautifully gowned in a navy tailored dress. The pleated bodice was of chiffon and the skirt of crepe. Around the cuffs and high neck white brand was used. White effectively trimmed her navy hat. Her only ornament was a gold brooch, a gift of the groom. Her flowers were pink roses and valley lilies.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilder entertained at an informal reception immediately following the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Boggs left for Birmingham. They will be at home after December 30 in Cave Spring.

My Day By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

BOSTON, Sunday.—It is becoming more and more of a mystery to me how newspapers acquire nonexistent news. Here I am in Boston, and I open the morning papers and I find things about my own family which have no real foundation in fact. The "reliable source" is never divulged, so it will probably remain a mystery to me and to many others who have the same experience.

Many people were sorry to learn of the death of Arthur Brisbane. His column was always well written and interesting to read, and though I knew him but slightly, I always enjoyed meeting him.

This living in a hotel, without any obligation except to spend several hours a day in a hospital, is a most restful existence. As my two older sons saw me off on the train the other night, they remarked that their wives grew weary of Washington because of the number of engagements which always seemed to be hanging over them. At home life was simpler. As a matter of fact, I imagine it is all a question of what one is accustomed to doing.

It probably would find it quite difficult, for a short time at least, to do things which are everyday obligations to my young Texas rancher daughter-in-law. In any case, the more youthful members of the family have settled down to White House routine with great ease, and Chandler continues to behave as if the White House had always been her playground.

Franklin Jr. is improving and we are all looking forward to his finally leaving the hospital, for no matter how good a hospital may be, nobody wants to stay there any longer than is necessary. Yesterday was a very good day. We are reading aloud, "I Found No Peace," a new book by Webb Miller, which provides us with plenty of thrills to counteract the monotony of our own days.

We still continue to spend a great many hours just waiting around, for I never knew the time when hospital routine worked out exactly as it was scheduled to work.

I look back over a rather long life and waiting around is one of the things which is inevitable where illness is concerned. So you just wait to keep some occupation handy which you can pick up whenever you are told politely to step out of the room, or to just wait until something or other is done. The really busy people are the nurses and the doctors, so you are glad enough to wait patiently and store up activity for the time when you may need it yourself.

For Double-Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Better Than Ready-Made Medicines. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, but, for real results, it is still the best thing ever known for coughs that start from colds. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few minutes until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way. —(adv.)

Santa Claus Contrives To Leave Buggy in Atlanta's Living Room

By Sally Forth.

THAT jovial and mischievous old man known as Santa Claus has to perform many miracles during his world tour on Christmas Eve, but Sally thinks he rather outdid himself and his entry down the chimney this year when he paid his annual visit to Frances Poole King at the Lullwater road residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde King Jr.

Bright and early Christmas morning Frances, attired in her pink pajamas, stole a march on her parents, and bounded down the stairway to find her presents. When she entered the living room, she found, to quote an old saying, "the care without the horse," for Santa had left her a bright-colored sulky, harness and all. Santa had quite a time getting the buggy into the King living room, but there it was, holding the center of the Christmas stage, so to speak. Frances and her pony, Tony, are all in readiness for a ride through the wooded area surrounding the King home.

Frances, as yet, cannot decide what her costume will be for her first ride in the new buggy, for she has a suit like those worn by the Canadian royal mounted, a cowboy suit and a hunting suit. The latter will no doubt be saved for her hunting trip with her father to south Georgia, while her new small-size wardrobe trunk is also in readiness for a trip.

Christmas this year for little Frances, as well as for her family, is a big home celebration, for last year Santa had to make his visit to them on board an ocean steamer en route to the West Indies. It would be impossible to describe and list the presents this youthful member of the society found under her Christmas tree, but in her stocking was a three-week-old toy terrier named "Spot," which takes an important place in the King canine family, which now numbers 17.

"All the world loves a lover," and a certain young man about town is no exception. Although he was well aware that his charming blond friend was in love with a man in New Orleans, he nevertheless, wanted to give her a Christmas present. He looked and shopped, and on Christmas Eve he had not found anything he thought suitable for a gift for the young belle.

Finally, he called her on the phone and said: "I want to give you a present, but I can't think of anything, so I'm going to give you a long-distance telephone call to your sweetheart in New Orleans, and you can charge the bill to me!" To Sally's knowledge, this is the first time a present of this kind has ever been given. Sally imagines that the donor was in the frame of mind to extend his best wishes in this season of "good will to men."

ROGERS TOY and his mother were busily engaged in doing their Christmas shopping downtown the other day when Rogers announced that he had to go across the street to another store to get a package. Mrs. Toy said she would wait for her son, and told him not to be long. He promised, and hurried to the other store.

The first person he saw was attractive Lois Merriam sitting at a desk before a brightly-lit Christmas tree, and standing around her were lots of young people he knew. So he joined the crowd, and they all had a big time, chatting together. You see, Lois was employed at this department store during the rush season, and her job was simply to sit at a desk and give information to shoppers. And she had a perfectly grand time, working. Rogers almost forgot his poor mother waiting for him, but finally he returned to meet her.

"Where have you been so long?" she asked her son, indignantly. "Well, Lois Merriam is holding open house over at the store," Rogers explained simply. "And I was having such a good time I hated to leave."

GLIMPSED here and there: Mrs. Winship Nunnall looking very smart in a Cossack coat, trimmed with astrakhan, worn with a hat to match and offset by a brilliant red scarf. Anne Felway being the "belle of the ball" at the grill room of the Capital City Club the other night. By STEPHEN DICKINSON.
NEW YORK, Dec. 28. —(AP)—Comparatively heavy trading, with most corporate and foreign issues moving lower, marked the bond market today.

United States government loans, for the first time in many weeks, pushed forward in a body and closed moderately above Thursday's final prices. Gains ranged to 1-4 of a point with the Treasury 2 7-8 of 1960 making the best headway. The 4 1-4s of 1952

The wave of offerings encountered by domestic corporate and foreign issues, lashed most heavily American railroad liens and European obliga-

Financial quarters attributed selling of the carrier bonds to the usual year-end rush to adjust accounts with an eye to income tax returns. Liquidation of European issues was attributed to the unsettled state of af-

Losses in the railroad section extended to several points, some of the heaviest losers including New Haven 6s off 1 7-8 at 53 1-8, Baltimore & Ohio 4 1-2s off 1 1-2 at 75, Erie 5s off 1 at 84 1-2 and Illinois Central 4 3-4s off 3-4 at 78. Prominent among the few gainers were Norfolk & Southern 5s of 1941 up 2 3-8 at 65 3-8 and Gulf Coast lines 5 1-2s "A" up 1 1-4 at 49 1-4.

with International Telephone declining 1 1-2 to 1 3-4 as rebel guns hammered away at the company's Madrid properties. International Hydro-Electric

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 8

"If we had a decent French pilot, we'd never have got into this," Prince Sborov shouted at his whimpering wife. "These Americans don't know anything about flying." Brown turned his head. "Say, guy, didn't you hear tell of the Wright Brothers, or Lindbergh?"

The pugnacious Brown started to tell the Prince just too long, so he turned busily to the controls and nosed the big ship down. After several tense moments Jane cried out: "Look! We're below the storm!"

Brown shook his head. "Not much good unless we can find a landing place." He consulted the fuel gauge, then called into the cabin: "Be sure your safety belts are fastened. Put your wraps in front of your face. I'll have to make a forced landing soon!"

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

There was no sign of a clearing in the wildly tossing waves of green below. Suddenly the engine died. "We're out of gas. It's the treets for us," Brown said calmly. Then he shouted again into the cabin: "Hold everything. I'm bringing her down!"

Contract Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Analyst.

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

PARTNER'S COUNT OF LENGTH.
When the opening hand reverses at a higher level, partner usually can expect that the first bid suit is the longer. A reverse in the same round does not necessarily indicate that the first suit is longer. The suits may be of equal length.

South North South North
1 club 1 heart 1 club 1 diamond
1 spade 1 heart

A rebid in a lower ranking suit possibly may represent a longer second suit.
